POLICE RUM ARREST POWERS LOST; CROWLEY IGNORES RULING

Today

Paderewski, at 71
Millionaires, New Style
Smiling in Death
A Synthetic Life Cell

By Arthur Brisbane

Von Moltke, straight as an arrow at 90, dominating wherever he went, had power.

Bismarck, walking up the hill from his little inn at Gastein in the Austrian Tyrol, an orderly with a switch walking ahead of him, on his way to tell the Austrian and German emperors what to say to each other, possessed power amazing.

It showed in Pope Leo's transparent face, when he celebrated his jubilee in St. Peter's.

And Paderewski, 71 years old, possessed it yesterday afternoon as he walked across the stage in Carnegie Hall to play for the Young People's Symphony-Philharmonic concert.

Every human being in the great hall, crowded from the floor to the topmost gallery, rose as he entered. He was there not to entertain, but to command and impress.

He played with the power and spirit of youth and the authority of age. Musical critics will tell you how and what he played. The important thing is that his power of personality plays upon the imaginations of men and rules them. Hoechstes glueck der erdenkinder sei nur die persoenlichkeit, says Goethe.

If any young musician is discouraged, let him remember Paderewski's experience. Intending to play the violin, he consulted a famous German teacher. The latter said to him:

"You will never be a musician, so you had better play the piano."

In old days, a man with one million dollars was "a millionaire." That modest pittance no longer means anything. A "millionaire," in the new financial language, is one who has one million or more of yearly income.

In 1928, 511 Americans told Uncle Sam they had incomes of one million dollars or more. Several have fifty millions a year, and at least two or three have more. They represent the beginning of our billionaire class. There are probably six, certainly four, men in the United States worth a billion.

And that harms nobody, if the money is used wisely, and not used to corrupt politics.

A billion, or ten billions, in the hands of one man might be the best possible thing for a people that does not know enough to use its national property for its own good.

The great power in Niagara is a good thing for industry, because it is used for industry. So with great accumulations of money, turned in the right direction.

Marshal Joffre, dying, his leg amputated, sends for his old comrades, and smiles at them. A man who has served his country faithfully can die bravely. And Marshal Joffre's death recalls Victor Hugo's words:

Dr. George W. Crile, great Cleveland surgeon, shows assembled scientists life cells "artificially created" and believes that his discovery will help the war against cancer. Two thousand scientists assembled were interested in the fact that a living cell can be artificially produced.

"If that can be done," some will say, "why not an entire man, produced synthetically, making a creator unnecessary?"

Science may create life artificially. But how could it create thought? What synthetic arrangement of molecules and atoms could produce the imagination of a great poet?

Mere life is nothing. The important thing is that which exists apart from matter, without form, weight or volume, the soul of man. You cannot make that by any combination of atoms or molecules. You cannot create affection synthetically.

All the science in the world will never create the affection of a field mouse mother for its young.

British gentlemen hunt the stag on horses, stag hounds pursuing the frightened deer. That gives riders a good appetite for liquids and solids, and there is usually no complaint, since the deer can't write to the newspapers.

But now the House of Commons, and many others, in England are excited because one stag, frightened by the hounds, ran off the south coast of England into the sea, and was drowned.

Usually the stag shakes his tail once or twice, hops over the nearest fence, is gone, and seen no more.

SIX CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Montreal, Dec. 30 (AP)—Six of the nine children of Henri Labelle, St. Janvier, Que., butter merchant, were burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed their home.

THREE DROWNED IN AUTO PLUNGE

Charleston, S. C., Dec. 30 (INS)—Three persons were drowned and a baby was believed killed when an automobile plunged over an embankment into a small pool near here today.

R. R. STOCKS GO UP SHARPLY

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Stock market bears who had been skeptical over the early prospect of railway consolidation received a stock today in the announcement from Washington that executives of the eastern trunk lines had agreed upon a unification plan.

The rail stocks were rushed up $2 to $8 a share—one of the sharpest advances of the year—as the bears scrambled to cover their short commitments. The entire share market was stimulated, leading industrials and utilities gaining $2 to more than $5.

High fliers were Atlantic Coast Line, New Haven, Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, New York Central, Atchison, Baltimore & Ohio and Reading, which gained $5 to $8 a share. Such issues as Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Chicago & Northwestern, Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chesapeake Corp. and Alleghany Corp. advanced $2 to $3.

Mine Workers Spurn Terms; Strike Looms

Cardiff, Wales, Dec. 30 (AP)—Miners' delegates this afternoon rejected the owners' terms for extension of a temporary wage and working schedule agreement and a strike in the South Wales fields appeared inevitable.

Grid Star of First Yale-Tiger Tilt Dies

Orange, N. J., Dec. 30 (AP)—Jacob H. R. Dunning, 76, who played quarterback for Yale in the first Yale-Princeton football game in 1873, died last night of a heart ailment. Dunning retired three years ago from the real estate business in New York. His widow, two daughters and one son survive.

Roosevelt May Have to Ask Tax Increase

Albany, Dec. 30 (INS)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be forced to recommend a state tax on luxuries or an increase of one cent in the present gasoline tax in order to balance the 1931 executive budget unless he cuts appropriations by about $10,000,000, it was reported at the capital today.

MRS. KEHOE IN PETTING PARTY

Salem, Dec. 30—Michael Franklin McDonough of Swampscott, former Dartmouth football star and son of a wealthy Lynn contractor, admitted in probate court today that he had kissed Mrs. Nellie J. Kehoe of Lynn, held her in his lap and taken her on auto rides.

McDonough was a witness at a hearing on Mrs. Kehoe's petition for custody of her children, Blaine, 6, and Marilyn, 8.

During a recess there was an uproar when S. Blaine Kehoe, the husband, followed his wife's attorney, John V. Phelan of Lynn, into the corridor and engaged in an altercation with him. Friends separated them.

Kehoe is a former football player and ex-policeman. The couple have been living apart since September 6, on which date, according to the husband's testimony today, he followed McDonough and his wife and then took teh children away to his mother's house.

Death of Hoover's Aide Linked to Crash

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Police today began investigation of a possibility the automobile of Lieut. Bruce Settle, naval aide to President Hoover, found dead yesterday at the navy yard, might have been involved in an accident Sunday, in which four were injured.

After Settle was found, it was said he might have been fatally injured in a fall from the mezzanine floor of the navy yard building.

Prince of Wales Absent From Ball

King's Lynn, Eng., Dec. 30 (AP)—Stiffness and soreness due to his strenuous day on horseback Saturday were supposed today to account for the unexplained absence last night of the Prince of Wales from the annual ball of the West Norfolk hunt, which he had promised to attend. His brother, the Duke of Gloucester, motored from Sandringham to take his place.

"Al" Smith Sticks to Job on 57th Birthday

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Today was Alfred E. Smith's 57th birthday, but the former Governor was too busy to take more than casual note of the anniversary. Telegrams came from all over the country to congratulate him. Tonight the Smith family will celebrate at a dinner party.

SCHMELING TO MEET SHARKEY OR LOSE TITLE

New York Boxing Board's Edict Gives German's Manager One Week to Accept

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today gave Joe Jacobs, new manager of Max Schmeling, one week to answer the commission's ultimatum that Schmeling defend his heavy-weight boxing title against Jack Sharkey here in June.

The commission's edict forstalled any hopes of Young Stribling to meet Sharkey, probably in Miami this winter, and then figure in the championship picture with the German heavyweight next year, if he won.

Jacobs was accepted as spokesman for Schmeling after he showed a five-year managerial contract with the German, who won the heavyweight title on a foul last summer. Jacobs told the commission he would get in touch with Schmeling by telephone and give his answer next Tuesday.

About two weeks ago the commission ordered Schmeling to sign within 15 days to meet the Boston fighter for the title. Schmeling's reply was that Jacobs was in charge of his business.

In explaining the action, Commissioner James A. Farley said the commission had made its position clear to Jacobs and that Schmeling must post a $10,000 forfeit and Sharkey the same amount. Farley intimated that the penalty for failure to agree to the terms would mean withdrawal of recognition of Schmeling as the heavyweight titleholder.

Messenger Robbed Inside Deadline

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Within the deadline which police have drawn around the financial district, a brokerage messenger was assaulted and robbed of securities valued at $30,000 to $40,000 today. The victim, Armando Mendoza, 24, is employed by Ernst & Co., brokers, and the crime occurred in the building at 120 Broadway, where the company has its offices.

Missing Plane and Passengers Safe

Casablanca, Morocco, Dec. 30 (AP)—A mail-passenger plane, reported lost two days ago on the Moroccan leg of the Paris-Buenos Aires line, was located today south of Cape Juby where it had made a forced landing. Passengers and crew were safe.

U. S. Tax Refunds in Lynn, Newton

Washington, Dec. 30 (INS)—Income tax refunds announced by the Treasury today included Charles W. Leonard, West Newton, Mass., $33,500; estate of Katherine C. Ireson Lynn, Mass., $20,458.

EASTERN RAIL LINES AGREE ON MERGER

Hoover Tells of the Plans for Consolidated Systems in Eastern Territory

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Agreement of eastern railroads on a consolidation into four independent systems was announced today by President Hoover.

The railroads are the Pennsylvania, the New York Central, the Baltimore & Ohio and the Nickel Plate systems.

AID TO JOBLESS

President Hoover understands the plan provides for the protection of employes and of local communities and fulfills the intent of Congress as expressed in the transportation act of 1920.

The consolidation program must be submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission for approval.

The President said he believed the plan will contribute to opportunities for employment in the present depression and also increase the stability of the railroads themselves.

He also expressed the belief that eventually the consolidation would result in lower rates to the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission a year ago laid out a plan looking to the development of five great trunk lines, but objections to the fifth trunk line caused disagreement among railroad leaders.

I. C. C. MUST APPROVE

The new plan provides for the Virginian Railway on the south and the New York Central on the north as the boundary roads in the movement.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, the President said, has no power to force consolidations, but, under the transportation act of 1920, has the power to approve such

Paul Revere is Debunked! He Was Only a Messenger Boy

So stated Prof. Arthur Meier Schlesinger of Harvard today, commenting on a statement by the Washington Bicentennial Commission that the poet, Longfellow, was inaccurate in writing of Paul Revere:

"It was two by the village clock
When he came to the bridge in Concord town."

Agreeing with the commission, Prof. Schlesinger added that, even though inaccurate, it was the poem alone that sent the midnight cry of Paul Revere and the hoofbeats of his "fearless steed" ringing down the ages.

"Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere—"

Spikes Dry Law

IN A SWEEPING RULING today, Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner held that Massachusetts police, sheriffs and constables had no authority, under repeal of the "Baby Volstead act," to make liquor arrests except under a warrant.

JOFFRE GAINS, BUT HOPE DIES

Paris, Dec. 30 (AP)—Marshal Joffre's astounding vitality reasserted itself this afternoon as he clung to life, but his doctors still despaired of his recovery.

Their evening bulletin read:

"Breathing is regular, pulse is sound and there is a slight improvement over last night."

Their morning bulletin said he had taken some nourishment during the night—the first in many hours—but that his lungs were congested, his breathing irregular, and his chances for recovery virtually impossible.

Since recovery from the coma into which he sank yesterday the marshal has continued conscious. This morning his surgeons dressed his leg, which was amputated above the knee ten days ago. The patient endured the operation without apparent weakness.

Gen. Issaly, who has visited his old chief several times, saw him again this morning and left the hospital shaking his head in amazement.

EXTRAORDINARY WILL

"It's extraordinary the energy he shows," the general said. "What will. What power."

Whatever hope the most optimistic might have found in the bulletin was dissipated by Dr. Labbe another of the marshal's physicians.

"The end is imminent," he said. "Yet so remarkable is the marshal's constitution that it may not come for several days. We are preventing arterial spasms by injections, but that cannot be continued indefinitely."

Pope Sends Special Blessing to Joffre

Paris, Dec. 30 (INS)—A special benediction was sent to Marshal Joseph Joffre by Pope Pius XI today through Monsignor Patis, papal nuncio in Paris.

A telegram from His Eminence stated that the "holy father invokes celestial favor" for the dying war hero.

Portuguese Fliers Hop Off for Africa

Lisbon, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Portuguese aviators, Carlos Bleck and Lieut. Humberto Cruz today started from Amadora on a flight to Angola, Portuguese East Africa. They expect to make the journey in easy stages.

WARNER HOLDS STATE CAN'T ENFORCE LAW WITHOUT WARRANT

Liquor cases in the courts were thrown into a condition of chaos today by Atty.-Gen. Warner's interpretation of police power of arrest under prohibition laws.

An immediate test case of his ruling is expected to be carried to the Supreme Court.

Boston police and police of other cities and towns have been acting illegally by arresting, without warrant, for keeping and exposing and for transportation, if the attorney-general's interpretation of Massachusetts general laws is upheld.

Furthermore, Boston police, according to Supt. Crowley, are going to continue to make arrests without warrants notwithstanding the Warner decision.

CASES MAY BE HELD UP

Suspension of prosecution in all cases of arrests made without warrants, until the Supreme Court passes upon the validity of the attorney-general's ruling, was a prospect.

Supt. Crowley declared that the Boston police, making arrests without warrants, were acting under the provisions of Chapter 138, Section 75 of the General Laws, which provides that police "may without a warrant arrest any person whom he finds in the act of illegally selling, transporting, distributing or delivering intoxicating liquor, and seize the liquor."

This section, in itself, creates no offense according to Atty.-Gen. Warner, but merely grants powers of proceedings against persons guilty of offenses which are created by other state laws.

NO TRANSPORTATION

There is no state law prohibiting transportation and no warrant for such can be procured under this chapter, Warner ruled.

"The only specific act of those named in Section 75, authorizing action without a warrant, which is now an offense against the laws of this Commonwealth is that of illegally selling intoxicating liquor," he stated.

Yet Supt. Crowley pointed out that only 10 days ago, police of the City Point station seized 210 cases of liquor in South Boston and held it and a prisoner until warrants were granted. The defendant pleaded guilty to keeping and exposing for sale and federal authorities took the truck and liquor.

CONFUSION OVER LAW

Yesterday, he said, a man was arrested while transporting liquor and in court was found guilty of keeping and exposing. His leased truck was seized by the court and returned to the lessors.

The utmost confusion resulted in official minds as a result of Warner's interpretation. Conjecture included the possibility of action against police departments and

Nor have they, under state law, any power to arrest without a warrant for any violation of the National Prohibition Act, even such violations as are constituted felonies by the Jones law.

Their activities under state law, he ruled, must be confined to prosecution for exposing, keeping for sale and selling liquor containing more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol.

WARRANT IS ESSENTIAL

To arrest for exposing and keeping for sale they must have a warrant. They may arrest for actual sale without a warrant if, acting on a warrant for exposing or keeping, they encounter actual sale.

They may arrest for manufacture, possession or transportation only on a process issued under the internal revenue statutes by a State magistrate, who may, but is not compelled to, issue the warrant.

This procedure would not be effective in most cases of transportation, the attorney-general said.

Police stopping and searching without such warrant are liable to prosecution for trespassing, he warned.

COVERS ALL POLICE

Laws regarding to nuisances may possibly be applied in cases of liquor law violations, he said.

The far-reaching decision was handed down by Atty.-Gen. Warner at the request of Public Safety Commissioner Foote, head of the state police.

Commissioner Foote requested it following repeal of the Baby Volstead Act, which, for six years as a state law, prohibited the manufacture, transportation, importation or exportation of liquor in Massachusetts.

As rendered, the ruling applies to the state police but the powers outlined by the attorney-general for the state police are those governing the conduct of all other police, except federal, in the state.

The opinion is an interpretation of all local police power because the attorney-general interprets the state law to include the state police in its outline of police powers under state liquor law.

DEFINES POLICE POWERS

"State police officers have no authority by virtue of the terms of the National Prohibition Act to enforce its provisions," ruled the attorney-general, "nor have state police officers, as such, any power at common law to arrest without a warrant for any violation of the National Prohibition Act, even such violations as are constituted felonies by the Jones Act.

"The powers of a state police officer who, in the course of his duty, either on the highway or in

$800,000 Is Willed to Phillips Academy

Andover, Dec. 30 (AP)—Phillips Academy today announced it will receive more than $800,000 through the will of Mrs. Minnie G. Bumstead of Jersey City, N. J., the largest single gift it ever received. Mrs. Bumstead was the widow of William G. Bumstead, member of the class of 1875. Within a year, it was stated, $400,000 will be paid the academy. An additional $435,000 which is left in trust funds, will go to the academy upon the deaths of four legatees.

Gas Price Drops

Denver, Colo., Dec. 30 (AP)—Gasoline ranged from 13 8-10 to 15 cents a gallon in Denver today after major and independent company stations announced further reductions in a price war.

POLICE LOSE DRY ARREST AND RAID POWERS, WARNER RULES

CANNOT ACT WITHOUT A WARRANT

"1. If there is transportation or possession, such powers as he may derive from any warrant issued in accordance with the provisions of U. S. Rev. Stat., Chap. 1040, for a violation of the national prohibition act.

"2. If there is exposing or keeping for sale, and the liquor contains more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol, to apply for a warrant under Sec. 61, Chap. 138 of the General Laws of Massachusetts for violation of Sec. 2 of the same chapter.

"There is no authority to arrest without a warrant in any of the foregoing circumstances.

"You ask, also, what are the powers of a State police officer who, in a raid, comes upon a load of liquor in a liquor manufacturing still. You do not state the occasion or authority for the raid, but assuming that such officer lawfully comes to where he finds liquor in a still, his powers are:

"1. If there is possession or manufacture, such as he may derive from any warrant issued in accordance with the provisions of U. S. Rev. Stat., Chap. 1014, for a violation of the National Prohibition Act.

"2. If there is exposing or keeping for sale and the liquor contains more than 2.75 per cent of alcohol, to apply for a warrant under Section 61, Chap. 138 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, for a violation of Section 2 of the same chapter.

WHEN ARREST IS LEGAL

"3. If he then find a person in the act of selling liquor in violation of Section 2 of Chap. 138 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, to arrest and seize without a warrant and proceed in accordance with the provisions of Section 75 of Chap. 138 of the General Laws of Massachusetts."

Section 75 of Chapter 138, general laws, outlining the powers of local police and constables, does not contain the words, "State police officers," and Commissioner Foote asked a ruling on this issue.

"I am of the opinion that State police officers have and may exercise the same powers as, by Section 75 of Chapter 138, as amended, are given to police officers and constables," Atty.-Gen. Warner declared.

This section has existed in practically the same form for 26 years, 15 years before adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, the attorney-general pointed out.

"As there is now no state law prohibiting transportation," he said, "it is obvious that no warrant for such can be procured under this chapter. Consequently, upon an arrest or seizure for such act, a state police officer would be unable thereafter to procure a warrant and would be a trespasser."

Manufacturing, transporting, importing and exporting of liquor are no longer offenses under State law, inasmuch as the Baby Volstead Act has been repealed, the attorney-general ruled.

There appeared some doubt in his mind as to whether transportation was ever an offense under the Baby Volstead Act unless the liquor was intended for sale, for he said:

"Whether or not the creation of the offense enlarged the words, 'transporting, distributing or delivering intoxicating liquor for illegal sale' in general laws, Chap. 138, Sec. 75, during the life of the (Baby Volstead) law . . the situation today is as it was. . . . prior to the effective date of the so-called Baby Volstead act."

CITES U. S. STATUTE

The internal revenue law under which police may make arrests on warrant for possession, manufacture or transportations reads in part as follows:

"For any crime or offense against the United States the offender may, by any judge of a supreme or superior court, mayor, justice of the peace or other magistrates . . . be arrested and imprisoned before such court of the United States as has, by law, cognizance of the offense."

In regard to it, Warner stated.

"It has been decided that a state magistrate is not required to, but may at his option, act under these provisions.

"The procedure involving, even supposing the magistrate chooses to act, the making of complaint, the issuance of a warrant thereon, and then a hearing to determine whether there is just cause for holding the accused for trial before the federal court, would not be effective in most cases of transportation due to the time necessarily consumed in following it."

NOT LIKE FELONIES

In deciding that state police have no authority, as such, under the National Prohibition Act, Warner concurred in an opinion of former Atty.-Gen. Jay R. Benton, but in an interpretation widened by applicance of the decision to repeal of the state enforcement act.

There is no law giving to police in liquor cases the wide protection given to peace officers in arrests without warrant for felonies, he said.

"I find no statute or decision in this Commonwealth clearly importing such a duty and believe that the interference with personal liberty and deprivation of property which it would import are not to be lightly found by implication.

NOT POLICEMAN'S DUTY

"It is my opinion, therefore, that it is no part of the official duties of State police officers of this Commonwealth without a warrant to arrest a person or to search for or to seize any of his property upon reasonable or probable grounds to believe that such person has sold, transported, imported or exported intoxicating liquor, or is in the process of committing any of these acts in violation of the National Prohibition Act."

In another part of his ruling, Warner said:

"It is settled that in some cases an automobile or vehicle containing liquor may be searched and forfeited upon a warrant duly issued, although in absence of further decided cases upon this point it cannot be said with certainty just what facts will support such a forfeiture."

The opinion of the Attorney-General was 22 pages in length and contained many excerpts from State and federal laws and court decisions.

Dry Chief Says Federal Men Won't Relax Vigilance

Washington, Dec. 30—Howard T. Jones, assistant prohibition director, said today Atty.-Gen. Warner's ruling on prohibition enforcement in Massachusetts would have no effect whatsoever upon the federal prohibition enforcement policy in the Bay State. Aside from the statement that federal enforcement would not be relaxed, Jones declined to comment upon the decision or its effect.

G. O. P. Will Organize House, Says Nelson

Washington, Dec. 30 (INS)—Predicting that Republicans will organize the House in the 72d Congress, Rep. John M. Nelson (R.) of Wisconsin, former leader of the "La Follette bloc," today announced he was through with independent movements. The Republicans, Nelson believes, will have the support of Northwestern Progressive Republicans in the election of Speaker.

Pope Plans Ephesus Council Fete in Rome

Vatican City, Dec. 30 (AP)—The 15th centenary of the Council of Ephesus, at which was promulgated the dogma of Christ's dual nature and the divine maternity of the Virgin Mary, will be commemorated at Rome next year by direction of the Pope.

Joffre Refused Ether and Saw Own Leg Cut Off

Paris, Dec. 30 (INS)—Marshal Joffre's left leg was amputated while he looked calmly on, refusing to take ether and allowing use of only a local anaesthetic. He told his doctors, it was revealed today, that he desired to see what they were going to do to him.

His illness developed last July, when Dr. Boulin was called.

Boulin considered that the case needed the attention of an expert, so he called Dr. Leriche of Strasbourg.

They diagnosed the illness as arteritis, which eventually took the aspect of a gangrenous leg infection, but they did not consider it serious until November when it was realized that an amputation would soon be necessary.

In mid-December the marshal grew worse and on Dec. 19 was rushed in his own cabriolet to the Hospital of St. Jean de Dieu. Five doctors examined him there and the operation was set for Dec. 20 but he immediately grew so much worse that it was performed that night.

The leg was cut off at mid-thigh. Ten minutes after the operation, the marshal received Gen. Issaly, his chief of staff, who today related:

"When the marshal saw me his face lighted up in a bright smile. He seemed transformed and suddenly revived by the operation. His condition gave us great hope and the operation seemed entirely successful until last Friday."

While the marshal lay at death's door the Government announced his renomination to the Supreme War Council, of which he has been a member since 1920. He has given all of his time and efforts to this council since the war.

members of Parliament that it is an outrage to pursue a stag with hounds, and drown the stag.

And we take calmly the fact that 500,000 traps, at this moment, are holding animals of different kinds, caught for their fur, and doomed to suffer agony, until the trapper, at his leisure, comes to release them.

Sometimes such an animal will bite off its leg, and thus gain freedom for a crippled life. And everybody knows how fishing is done.

The fact is that men are still in the age of cruelty, and there's no use making a fuss about one stag.

A young woman will kill a helpless animal, and have her photograph taken with her foot on its head. She would be shocked if she saw a gorilla, standing with its foot on the head of a freshly killed man, or woman.

Men, looking for employment, in this and other countries, will read with amazement that Russia, with population greater than ours, is short 2,000,000 workmen. Russian women are asked to fill places, for which there are not men enough, and will be paid the same wages as men. And millions of them, trained to hard work in the fields, will be able to do a man's work.

AFTER BEING SLAPPED and mauled by an unidentified woman in a London cafe, Tallulah Bankhead of Alabama, who deserted the stage here to become a stage star in England, is to return to her native land to enter the talkies. She is to sail for New York on January 7. (A. P. photo.)

$20,000,000 TO LEND VETS IN JANUARY

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Veterans Administrator Hines today estimated $425,000,000 could be borrowed by veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates in 1931 and said in a statement the bureau was prepared to lend $20,000,000 to 300,000 veterans in January.

Outstanding certificates, he said, total 3,395,000, with an aggregate maturity value of $3,420,000,000. Of these, 1,600,000 certificates will have a total value of $725,000,000 on January 1, of which about $300,000,000 has already been borrowed.

The certificates, most of which were dated January 1, 1925, will be worth in cash 22½ per cent of the maturity value on January 1, 1931, for loans, he said, estimating this averaged $225 on each certificate. The bureau has been lending at the rate of $8,000,000 per month.

Claims for disability allowance, tabulated as of December 15, totalled 289,000 an increase of 21,000 over those reported as of November 30.

Compensation allowances paid in November alone totalled $20,000,000, more than for any single month in the history of the Veterans bureau.

CONFUSION ON RUM RULING

cities for recovery of liquor and fines, if the attorney-general is upheld.

Boston police will continue their present activities until Commissioner Hultman changes his order of last June governing police procedure in liquor cases, Supt. Crowley said.

The police interpret Section 75 as a law of prohibition, while the Attorney-General declares it to be only a law of procedure.

POWER OF ARREST.

Atty.-Gen. Warner further strengthened his stand that police could not arrest without a warrant by a lengthy reference to the power of arrest without warrant in cases of felonies.

"Such arrest must be in the nature of a duty, either by private citizen or police, he said, "and eve nassuming without discussion that the rule justifying arrest without a warrant for a felony may include a federal felony, a state police officer in arresting without a warrant for violation of the National Prohibition Act would not be acting officially and so would be acting without the justification of an ypower vested in him as a police officer."

It was general opinion that the Warner decision gave rise to such profound complications and possibilities that police throughout the State would order the present procedure of arrests changed or seek an immediate Supreme Court test case.

'Possum Hunter

GLENNA COLLETT found there are thrills in treeing a 'possum, as she caught up with the pack for the kill at a Georgia hunt.

Augusta, Ga., Dec. 30 (AP)—The thrill of treeing an agile Georgia 'possum compares favorably with that of teeing up at the start of an important links match, according to Glenna Collett and Maureen Orcutt.

The golf stars were members of a party of 100 persons recruited from the winter colony last night by Tom Hamilton, editor of the Augusta Chronicle, and Stewart Walker, chairman of the Augusta women's invitation golf tournament, to be played here March 16-19.

Miss Orcutt left the main group to go ahead with the dogs and guides, while the others remained at a campfire until the baying of the dogs announced the treeing of a 'possum.

"Where has this sport been all our lives?" asked Miss Collett when she caught up with the pack for the kill.

PAUL REVERE IS 'DEBUNKED'

tory would have heard only of Dawes, that unsung patriot who spread the alarm over another route that night and who, Prof. Schlesinger says, "was also a messenger boy like Revere."

"It is undoubtedly true that Paul Revere never reached Concord, but was captured by the British," said Prof. Schlesinger.

"Prescott, who had joined him, escaped and carried the message on to Concord. Thus Paul Revere accomplished his purpose that night in arousing Hancock and Adams and getting them out of the way before the British arrived.

"But at any rate Paul Revere was not an important personage in history. Longfellow's poem put him on history's pages, probably because his name rhymed with 'hear.'

NOT IN HISTORIES

"If the poet's first line had ended with 'pause,' for instance, he might have written about Dawes, who was also a messenger boy like Paul Revere.

"I don't think any modern text books even use Paul Revere's name. The old school books, written by people who didn't know much about history, didn't stick closely to historical facts.

"Of course, Longfellow was writing a poem and he didn't have to be historically accurate."

The Washington Bicentennial Commission's statement was made at Washington, where historical data are being gathered in connection with the observance of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington next February.

Ship With 24 Aboard Feared Lost in Storm

Oslo, Norway, Dec. 30 (AP)—The steamer Torefjell, with a crew of 24, was believed today to have been lost outside Egersund during a storm Saturday night. Wreckage from the vessel, which was of 2483 tons register, has floated ashore.

RURAL RACKET VICTIM DYING AT CONWAY

Hurled From Auto, He Says, With a Stab Wound and Multiple Fractures

North Conway, N. H., Dec. 31—A victim of "rural racketeers," according to Sheriff Fred Dinsmore of Carroll County, Ernest Bean, 35, a lumber dealer of Bartlett, is dying at Conway Hospital.

He has a stab wound in the back, three broken ribs, fractures of both arms, broken left shoulder, lacerated scalp and possible fracture of the skull.

In a few moments of consciousness, he told Sheriff Dinsmore he was hurled from an automobile between here and Bartlett. He was found by a passing motorist.

Sheriff Dinsmore questioned three suspects today but released them. He said he had kept the matter a secret since Saturday, when Bean was taken to the hospital, in order to round up suspects.

"I believe Bean was beaten up in an automobile and not hurled but was placed by the side of the road, to give the impression that he had been run down by a hit-and-run driver," the sheriff said. "His clothes indicate he was not thrown from the machine."

EASTERN LINES IN MERGER PLAN

"As a result of meetings of Gen. Atterbury, Mr. Crowley, Mr. Willard, Messrs. Van Sweringen and other representatives of the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Nickel Plate and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads, a plan for consolidation of the different railways in official classification territory (except New England) into four independent systems was agreed upon for presentation to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

DELAY RETARDS PROGRESS

"These negotiations have been in progress for some weeks, and were undertaken at my suggestion.

"Uncertainties and delays over nearly ten years have seriously retarded development of the railways and have prevented a desirable growth in many directions, and have diminished their ability to compete with other forms of transportation. Such questions as electrification, linking up of different railroads, development of terminals and many other major improvements have been retarded because of uncertainty with respect to the position which particular roads are to occupy in the permanent grouping."

By the terms of the plan made at the conference yesterday, the paper said, the New York Central would acquire the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; the Baltimore & Ohio would acquire the Reading and the Jersey Central; the Chesapeake & Ohio would acquire the Lehigh Valley, and the Pennsylvania would acquire trackage rights over the Nickel Plate along the southern shore of Lake Erie into Buffalo, N. Y.

The report in railroad circles that the Nickel Plate and Baltimore & Ohio had at last succeeded in getting their long sought entry into New York city was said to be substantially correct.

The Pennsylvania will secure trackage rights over the Nickel Plate along the south shore of Lake Erie. This was a big stumbling block. The New York Central objected to the Pennsylvania getting the rights which give it easy access to Buffalo.

COUZENS OBJECTS.

Senator Couzens, of Michigan, has challenged the contention of President Hoover that the consolidation eventually would open the way for lower rates. He quoted Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, as saying that no hope should be held for lower rates as a result of the proposed consolidations.

If he believes the proposed realignment a poor one, Couzens said he would renew his efforts to obtain action by the House on his resolution to prohibit consolidations prior to March 4, 1931. The Senate approved that resolution.

It was reported at the Capitol Couzens protested to the President against issuing a public statement on consolidation at this time, but he declined to comment on that.

Martha Stedman Facing Eviction, Owes $200 Rent

Martha Stedman

The former Broadway beauty also announced that she was expecting the sheriff to evict her without clothing or furniture. Miss Stedman had been connected with a sandblasting concern and business depression forced it to shut down.

Several years have elapsed since she appeared behind Broadway's footlights. Close friends said that her financial difficulties would be straightened out.

Adele Ryan Wins First Round of Love Battle

New York, Dec. 30—Adele Ryan, granddaughter of the late Thomas F. Ryan, won the first round yesterday in the $500,000 alienation of affections suit brought against her by Muriel Johnston, night club entertainer.

Adele Ryan

Mrs. Johnston, who, with her husband, Robert, formed the night club team of Bob and Muriel, was denied by Justice Callahan her request to examine the Ryan heiress before trial.

At the same time, Justice Callahan ordered the papers in the case sealed, which means that nothing more will be made public until the trial.

Barthelmess Girl Wants Mother in California

Chicago, Dec. 30—"I would rather stay in California if mother could be there, too," eight-year-old Mary Hay Barthelmess confided yesterday as she stopped here briefly on her way to her mother, Mary Hay, in New York.

Mary Hay Barthelmess

The daughter of the noted movie actor was put aboard the train in Hollywood by her father, Richard Barthelmess, so that she might be with her mother, his former wife, for the next six months, in accordance with an agreement.

Arriving here she was still clutching one of her Christmas toys under her arm. She declared she had a wonderful time with her daddy on Christmas.

Mme. Sembrich, Former Prima Donna, Seriously Ill

New York, Dec. 30—Mme. Marcella Sembrich, one time prima donna of the opera, is seriously ill of gallstones at her Central Park apartment. She has cancelled all teaching engagements and is under a physician's care. She is 72.

Mme. Sembrich

Mme. Sembrich, one of the greatest operatic sopranos, was born in Lemberg, Poland, made her debut at the age of 12 when she appeared in piano and violin recitals and made her farewell performance at the Metropolitan Opera House in 1909. Instead of retiring to a life of leisure she opened a studio at New York. Alma Gluck was one of her most successful students.

PROSPERITY REVIVAL DETERMINED IN NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

ONLY 3 DAYS LEFT TO WIN PRIZES

Read Excellent Ones Others Have Sent, Then Hasten Your Resolve Along

Have you sent your New Year's resolution to the Boston Evening American?

If not, hurry up!

Your resolution this year may be worth from $5 to $25 and it may bring you fame besides. Say it in 50 words or less and get it in the mail—NOW.

Since the Boston Evening American opend its columns to everyone, everywhere, to express good resolutions, each mail has brought in such heaps of good resolves that the air is filled with optimism. Everyone sends good, cheerful resolutions—hundreds of them are arriving and where there is so much hope and firm resolve a joyous welcome for the little New Year is assured.

YOURS MAY WIN

Your own personal resolutions may contain wisdom of great value to everyone. It may be judged the most original and valuable of all and thereby win the capital cash prize of $25. There are 27 other prizes of from $5 to $15.

Remember that a resolution is a plan. To be valuable it must express action.

JOHN SILVER, Arlington: Resolved—to give more to the world than I take from it and thereby help stabilize business and help secure confidence in humanity, which is so necessary to prosperity, happiness and the promotion of love for all mankind.

LEE KITSON, Somerville: Let us resolve to have faith in our glorious nation, respect and uphold our free Republic with its countless opportunities, and let Time, the best critic, the shrewdest advisor, the frankest friend, lead us to a brighter horizon for better times and never sell America "short."

MAY GAVIT, Providence, R. I.: Let us resolve to discipline our thoughts to constructive thinking; that we keep an open mind toward all men; that we face this New Year in a consciousness of charity, realizing that all yesterdays die with the night and each day is a new beginning.

GEORGE WALKER, JR., Cambridge: My aim is to put the past behind me; live the present courageously; plan the future intelligently; work harder and think straighter than ever before. And lastly, to make these resolutions the instruments of my will for the accomplishment of my plans every day in 1931.

MRS. B. Y. KELLY, Spencer: I resolve to do the next thing, no matter how trivial, with care and enthusiasm, knowing that my inner feelings and my attitude are what really count, and that moral strength and cheerfullness prepare one for fuller living, spiritually and materially.

J. HARRISON, Cambridge: Resolved—to respect all lawfully constituted authority; to remember that whining is time wasted and that the country that succored me in time of need is now calling on me to reciprocate; that the America that was good to me during her prosperity is good enough for me in her hour of adversity and that come what may, she is still God's gift to an immigrant.

Girls, the boys are beating you thus far: send in your resolutions today. The contest closes on January 2. Address Resolution Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.

Routed Into Cold by Apartment Fire

MISS SOPHIE LIPMAN, one of 15 persons who fled into the cold when flames threatened the apartment house at 102-112 Talbot ave., Dorchester, today. Smoke caused considerable damage. (Staff photos.)

EVEN AN ENGINE doesn't belong in a fire, Seymour Silberstein of 106 Talbot ave., decided, so he seized his toy as he made his way to safety while firemen battled to control the blaze.

15 FLEE BLAZE IN DORCHESTER

Fifteen persons were driven to the street by fire in the three-story apartment block at 102 to 112 Talbot ave., Dorchester, early today. The blaze started in the basement at 106, according to police of Mattapan station, and spread rapidly, but smoke caused the biggest loss.

Among those who were aroused and quickly dressed for exit to the street were City Councilor Israel Ruby and members of his family, who live at 102 Talbot ave.

Mrs. Rose Lipman, and three children, Jack Lipman, 22, Sadie Lipman, 18, and Sophie Lipman, 15, of 108 Talbot ave., were forced to leave their suite when smoke filled the apartment. Among others driven out were John Hawkins and H. Koleman, of 102 Talbott ave., Mrs. Jennie Zeif, Lelia E. Colburn, of 106, and Herman H. Curran of 108.

Officer Killed When About to Open Fire

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 30 (AP)—John Brown, veteran peace officer, was found shot to death here last night, one hand clutching a pistol which he did not have a chance to use against an assailant who surprised him in a garage at the rear of his home.

Lord Cushendun Weds Miss Margesson

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—Lord Cushendun, former Conservative undersecretary for foreign affairs, was married yesterday to Miss Catherine Margesson, daughter of Sir Mortimer and Lady Isabelle Margesson.

Dog Leads Way to Five Boys Asphyxiated in Old Mine

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 30 (AP)—A shaggy dog, whose nervous barking and whining could not be stilled, led a man into an abandoned mine in the South Hills last night and there five boys were found victims of gas.

Today white crepe symbols replaced holly wreaths at the homes of Steve Polka, 16; Andrew Novak, 16; John Vogick, 14; Walter Kubala, 15, and Joseph Kasicik, 17.

The boys went into the mine to gather coal for their families. Several of them carried candles. About three-quarters of a mile in they began to drop.

The dog, constant companion of the Vogick boy, returned home alone. When it could not be quieted the boy's father followed the dog to the pit.

Rail Executive Sees Better Times

Cleveland, Dec. 30 (AP)—John J. Bernet, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Pere Marquette, said today the fact railroads have spent about $1,000,000,000 on improvements in 1930, unnecessary to move the decreased business, is a demonstration of the carrier's belief that better times are coming.

CAPONE'S AIDE GETS 5 YEARS

Chicago, Dec. 30 (AP)—Jack Guzik, business manager for the Capone liquor and vice syndicate, was sentenced to five years in Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $17,500 by Federal Judge Woodward today for evading income tax payments. Motion for a new trial was overruled.

The total amount of the evasions was fixed in the government's charges at $229,000, based on the alleged income of more than $1,000,000 during that period.

Evidence presented at the trial related only to Guzik's gambling activities and did not touch on the liquor traffic.

Fred Ries, who served as cashier for several Capone-Guzik gambling houses in Cicero, testified the gambling houses made an average net profit of $25,000 to $30,000 each month.

Farm Board Scored on Wheat and Cotton

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 30 (AP)—In an address yesterday before the Texas Farmers Union, John A. Simpson of Oklahoma City, national president of the Farmers Union, charged the Federal Farm Board had attempted to depress the price of wheat; had created an unwholesome condition through buying and selling futures, and wished to substitute corporate farming for individual farming. He demanded a congressional investigation.

Officials of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association quoted reports to show cotton would have gone as low as 7 cents this season had it not been for the board.

40 Peasants Slain by Soviet Soldiers

Vilna, Poland, Dec. 30 (AP)—Reports brought here today by a group of Russian peasants who had crossed the Soviet border, said they and others, confined to a camp, awaiting deportation to Siberia, had been fired upon by Soviet soldiers when they attempted to escape.

Forty prisoners were killed or wounded, they said. They had been sentenced to Siberia, they said, for resisting collectivization measures.

"Doomed" Flier Buried

HIGH HOPES OF 1931 HELD BY NOTABLES

Personages in the News Daily See New Year Prosperous One

By The Associated Press

High hopes greet 1931!

The wish for prosperity takes precedence among leaders of American thought and activity, and the aspirations of specialists dovetail into the program.

The question: What is your greatest hope for 1931?

The answers:

NEWTON D. BAKER, former Secretary of War—That we Americans may be able to find some way to adjust ourselves to the industrial civilization of which we are a part, which would prevent the tragedy of recurring depressions.

CAPT. FRANK HAWKS, speed flier—All air transport and mail schedules speeded up to at least 150 miles an hour cruising speed.

GENE TUNNEY, retired heavyweight Boxing Champion—That solutions will be found for the economic and political problems confronting the world. Immediate removal of the Eighteenth Amendment, I believe, would bring about an immediate revival of trade.

BEN B. LINDSEY, former Denver Juvenile Court Judge—I hope for the success of the campaign to abolish the divorce courts and substitute for them a commission of experts to hear all domestic discords and, after an effort of reconciliation has failed, to grant an honest divorce by mutual consent.

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN, preacher—My hope for the world is not founded upon unaided humanity. Man occupies a friendly universe. Hence the stream of tendency runs toward intellectual enlightenment. So far as man is concerned, the unseen forces of the cosmos dismiss the ape and predict the angel.

WILLIAM GREEN, President of the American Federation of Labor—The organization of wage earners into unions competent to keep progress for workers in line with social progress.

AMELIA EARHART, transatlantic flier—What will aid aviation most in 1931 is further perfection of instruments and aircraft toward increased reliability.

NICHOLAS [illegible] BUTLER, president of Columbia University—That convincing evidence may be shown by the highest and most responsible officers of our federal and state governments that they possess the intellectual capacity, the administrative competence, the courage to deal promptly and effectively and constructively with the great national and international problems which confront the United States.

'Whataman' Behind Bars

A PAIR OF BRASS KNUCKLES found on Arthur "Whataman" Shires, erstwhile major league ball player and pugilist, landed him behind cell bars at Los Angeles. Here is the former bad boy of the big leagues behind bars. He seems to enjoy the experience. (International telephoto.)

SHIRES WOULD BE 'SILENT ART'

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 30 (AP)—Arthur "The Great" Shires, the former Washington Senators' first baseman with double action vocal cords who almost made good in the fight racket and now is trying his luck in the talkies, wants to be called "Silent Arthur."

Arthur The Great talked his way into jail yesterday and spent 12 hours trying to talk his way out. When released on $520 bond last night, pending his trial tomorrow on charges of drunkenness and of carrying weapons, a pair of brass knuckles he said:

"No more promiscuous talking for me. I knew I talked a lot, but I never thought I'd talk myself into this. From now on call me 'Silent Arthur.'"

Explaining the brass knuckles, he said:

"I just carried them for the fun of it. You know I don't need them. When I hit them with my bare fist they go out cold."

Connecticut Jail Given Clean Bill

Hartford, Ct., Dec. 30 (AP)—Inhuman treatment of inmates or brutality were not resorted to in Connecticut state prison at Wethersfield, the investigating committee reported today to Gov. John H. Trumbull. It recommended that life prisoners be paroled after 25 years. It would lift the "silence" rule which forbids inmates to talk during meals. There should be daily open-air recreation and a prison farm, it said. The report praised Warden C. H. Reed and his staff for their work.

Burmese Rebellion Broken by Defeat

London, Dec. 30 (INS)—The backbone of the Burmese rebellion was believed broken today with a smashing defeat sustained by the hill fighters at the hands of government troops. Central News dispatches from Rangoon reported that 100 rebels were slain when 300 of them attempted to surprise 1000 soldiers besieging the rebel stronghold in upper Burma.

Heavy gunfire was heard 30 miles from the scene of battle and part of the jungle was reported afire.

Mexicans in Truce at War Over Statue

Tulyehualco, State of Mexico, Mex., Dec. 30 (AP)—Residents of San Javier and San Antonio Atlinco today observed an armistice to reach terms for disposition of a statue, the "Santo Nino," which both villages claim. While residents of San Antonio were parading yesterday with the statue, residents of San Javier attacked them, captured "Santo Nino" and took it to their village.

Ely Unable to Call on Gov. Roosevelt

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 30—Pressure of official business and unexpected personal engagements compelled Gov.-elect Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts to postpone his visit with Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the Executive Mansion.

Ex-N. Y. Secretary Hugo Dead

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Francis M. Hugo, New York secretary of state from 1915 to 1920, died today at his home on West End ave., aged 60.

BOSTON FIRMS SUED BY U. S.

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Justice Department has filed a bill in equity in Federal court for the Southern district of New York against the Asphalt Shingle and Roofing Institute and a number of companies and individuals connected with it alleging they are in combination to restrain trade.

The action names Chester E. Rahr of Boston, individually and as president of the institute, and the following:

Barber Asphalt Co., Philadelphia; Bird & Son, Inc., East Walpole, Mass.; Certain-teed Products Corporation, Boston; the Flintkote Co., Boston; Johns-Manville Corporation, New York, and nine other companies.

Frank H. Gilchrist of Massachusetts and Philip R. Allen of East Walpole, Mass., are defendants.

Many Celebreties at Melchett Funeral

London, Dec. 30 (AP)—In the presence of scores of industrial and political leaders, Lord Melchett, long one of the most powerful figures in England, was buried today at St. Pancras Cemetery.

He was laid to rest after funeral services with the full Jewish rites. The ambassadors of Poland, France, Austria and Greece were there as was the Maharaja of Burdwan, Indian prince. Among all these great figures was W. C. Scutt, the financier's valet.

Handkerchiefs' Clue in Teachers' Killing

Blackwell, Okla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Three handkerchiefs and a penknife were the basis of a search today for the slayer of two schoolteaching sisters, shot Sunday on a highway south of Tonkawa.

The objects, taken from the bodies of Miss Zenia Griffith, 35, and Miss Jessie Griffith, 24, were delivered to L. A. Chase, a Salvation Army adjutant, by a penitent, who said he did not think he could "be forgiven" for his sins.

General Realty in $20,000,000 Merger

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—The General Realty Utilities Corp., affiliated with the Thompson-Starret Co., Inc., and the Tishman Realty & Construction Co., has acquired control of the $20,000,000 Lefcourt Realty Corp., it was announced today.

Illinois Waterway Work Plan Signed

Washington, Dec. 30 (AP)—Secretary Hurley approved army engineers' plans for federal work on the Illinois waterway today. The waterway will connect the Great Lakes with the Mississippi system at Chicago and will permit barge transportation.

PROSPERITY TO RETURN IN 1931 KLEIN SAYS

Warns Nation Against Being Depressed by the Dismal Annual Statements

Washington, Dec. 30 (INS)—All commercial and industrial indicators available to the Commerce Department for 1931 definitely point upward, Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, and one of the country's leading business authorities, declared today.

He agreed with Irving T. Bush, of New York, that business conditions throughout the world would show an improvement by the end of 1931.

Klein also took the view, understood to be that of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and other high officials, that the United States would be the first of the commercial nations of the world to show recovery.

According to Klein's view there should be a turn for the better following the early months of the year, although whether it would be in the first quarter or the second would be difficult to forecast.

"The public should be warned not to be unduly pessimistic at the annual statements of business establishments which will be issued early in the new year," Klein said.

"These will show conditions as they were some months before and not as at the time issued. These statements undoubtedly will paint the business situation in a more unfavorable light than actually exists."

The European situation is not altogether black, Klein pointed out. He mentioned specifically the situation in Germany, where there is unemployment and low production, yet there are industries which are standing out and are moving forward at nearly normal rates.

DEAD FISH RISE BY MILLIONS

Coquimbo, Chile, Dec. 30 (AP)—Waves reeking with an unnatural odor washed the shores of northern Chile today following what is believed to have been a tremendous seismic disturbance deep in the Pacific Ocean.

An official warning was issued to inhabitants not to bathe in the ocean since an examination had revealed suspended animal matter, apparently emanating from millions of fish killed by the shock. Unusual heat has prevailed.

A number of slight earth shocks have been felt during the past two days. The entire coastline 300 miles north to Caldera appears to have been shaken.

Stop, Look and Sniff! It's Bad

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

If you're still alive we might as well wish you a Happy New Year.

In the old days you could wish Merry Christmas and Happy New Year both together.

Now you've got to wait until you see what happens.

It's the people who have made this radical change in our merry salutations.

One man in Toledo drank so much bath tub gin he got a porcelain finish.

They were coming too close.

Nearly 200 ex-citizens said, "Here's looking at you."

They finished the drink but not the scrutiny.

They fiddle with that elixir of sudden autopsies in spite of the daily warning in every newspaper in the country.

It's about time to stop wondering whether the stuff is good or bad and start wondering if your wife will look good in black.

They could improve this nation by taking those safety gates off dangerous crossings and putting them on neighborhood hospitality.

T. B. GERM LIVES BY STEALING 'ALCOHOL'

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Cleveland, Dec. 30 (AP)—The tuberculosis germ either lacks or conceals a peculiar alcohol common to most living things, and this may account for its deadliness.

The missing alcohol is a sterol, a substance which absorbs the benefits of sunshine and light.

Discovery of the deficiency was reported today by Dr. Robert J. Anderson of Yale University to the chemistry section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Sterols of some kind," he said, "are always associated with the fats in all living cells. We have never been able to isolate even traces of true sterols from tubercle bacilli.

"The sterols may be present in the bacilli in some combination which is insoluble in such fat solvents as we have employed."

The health effects of the missing sterol were explained by biologists associated with Yale in the endeavor to discover a specific cure for tuberculosis. They said that sterol, by absorbing sunlight, forms ergosterol which prevents rickets. Animals robbed of sterols do not live.

STEAL TO KEEP ALIVE

There are sterols in the human cells in which tubercle bacilli live, it was explained, and it may be that the germs rob the cells of this alcohol to get the life-substance they themselves do not posses.

Some new measurements of Pluto, the planet X, discovered at Lowell Observatory this year, were presented by two Mt. Wilson astronomers, Dr. Seth B. Nicholson and Nicholes U. Mayall.

Pluto's next midsummer evidently will come in the year 1989, for then he will be closest to the sun. His own year, the time he takes to swing around the sun, is 247 years, eight months and about 10 days.

LONG-DISTANCE NIEGHBOR.

This mass, which may indicate closely how his size compares with Earth, ranges between about three-tenths more to three-twentieths less than Eearth. Pluto's mean distance from the sun is approximately 3,679,000,000 miles.

Petroleum has been produced at the University of Minnesota by use of electricity, by ultra-violet radiation and by alpha radiation, the latter being the discharge of helium particles by radio-active elements.

Dr. S. C. Lind, director of the school of chemistry, said it is possible that petroleum is created in the earth's crust by emanations from mildly radio-active rocks which are distributed quite generally. He said he prefers the usual theory that heat produced petroleum.

The alpha ray petroleum would be made from inert, inorganic substances rather than the organic; that is, plant and animal substances. He quoted other scientists to show that the amount of petroleum in the petrolia field of Texas is not too great to be accounted for by the alpha ray hypothesis.

60 N. E. Delegates at Power-Farm Parley

Worcester, Dec. 30 (AP)—The first conference in the United States between officials of power companies, farm bureaus, county extension services and the Grange to discuss plans for the electrification of county districts now without light and power facilities, was held here today with sixty delegates from the New England states.

L. Lorenze Rimbach of the New England Power Association, presided.

Promoter to Face Connecticut Trial

Waterbury, Ct., Dec. 30 (AP)—Charles Edwin Kenner, alias Charles W. Campbell, a stock promoter, now en route to New York to face criminal charges, will face additional charges here, it was reported today. State's Atty. Lewis said he would seek a bench warrant charging Kenner with nine counts of obtaining money under false pretenses. Lewis also said he would try to have the New York authorities waives their claim so Kenner may be brought here for trial.

Maine Plane Hops to Charlottetown

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Dec. 30 (INS)—A plane piloted by Hazen Bream, an instructor in a flying school at Rockland, Me., arrived here today after a brief stop at St. John, N. B. The 372 miles flight was made in 3 hours, 25 minutes flying time for the benefit of one of Bream's students.

Death Auto Driver Given Six Months

Springfield, Dec. 30 (AP)—Sentence of six months in jail was appealed today by Harvey P. Bewsee, whose automobile killed Mrs. Anna Cany of Stafford Springs, Ct., a nurse, December 8. Bewsee was charged with dangerous driving. He said that the nurse ran from between parked cars.

Poultry Expert Dies

Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 30 (AP)—Henry P. Sewab, 64, for ten years editor of the Poultry Tribune and widely known poultry expert, died there last night.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

Letters from readers on current subjects are welcomed. Letters should not exceed 250 words in length, should be written on one side of the paper, and must bear the writer's name. Names will be omitted in publication, if requested. Address Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop sq.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Editor Boston American:

Don't lose your laugh! This is a simple, but the best New Year's message for any one. Have you got a good laugh? Use it. Don't let your feelings control your laugh.

Encourage laughing. Before you sell any goods to anyone preface the sale with a good story that will bring a broad grin.

Many of us are so absorbed in business and other interests that we cannot squeeze out a laugh. Prohibition has put the damper on laughing. It is so hard to forget your reverses that they sweep over our faces and make wrinkles.

Laugh and grow fat is an old saying. A good laugh is sunshine in a house. A woman without a laugh in her is the greatest bore in existence.

Children laugh more than grown-ups. Get more fun out of life by turning on the switch for a good laugh.

New Breakwater Urged to Aid Unemployment

Editor Boston American:

It was in 1857, I believe, that Minot's Light was swept away. On the night of the S. S. Portland disaster (1898) the light trembled.

Men are idle. Why shouldn't a breakwater be built to prevent the light keepers being thrown into the sea and to retain for shipping its eyes on even the stormiest night?

One who is familiar with that coast tells me the breakwater should be built east by north. The granite could be secured from Quincy or Cohasset. The breakwater should be about 500 feet long.

I hear that a $1,500,000 breakwater is being built in Los Angeles harbor. Why shouldn't the East try to keep up a jog trot at least?

Control After Birth Held Need of Nation

Editor Boston American:

I agree with that clergyman who, speaking before a group of social workers, let go this wisdom in Boston:

"What the country needs, isn't so much birth control as control after birth."
N. M. MUNSON.

Communistic Schools Scored by Writer

Editor Boston American:

I would like to know why we tolerate schools for Communists in this country? In them, Soviet doctrines and methods of spreading them are taught. There are two in East Cambridge. There is a big one, a short distance north of Minneapolis, Minn., that seems to feed these smaller ones in other sections of this country.

Soap box oratory is part of the course of education. They are constantly banging away at the capitalist system and encourage robbery by foul or fair means. Of this, I am certain.
N. M. KOLSKOTSY.

Finger Printing in Next Census Urged

Editor Boston American:

Has anything been done in the interests of finger printing to be used in the next federal census?

Dr. Harry H. Laughlin of the Carnegie Institute is urging the adoption of this plan as a universal system of identification for all citizens of the United States. He also urges that the racial descent of each individual could be kept account of by the government.

Lauds Mr. Hearst For Aiding Vets in Bonus Fight

Editor Boston American:

Thank you and Mr. Hearst for putting the veterans' bonus bill before the public. It seems now through your generous space donated to the veterans that Congress will take favorable action.

We veterans who are willing to work and can't get any work are truly representatives of the great body of veterans.

We would like to have the American Legion's endorsement of the bonus bill, but, thank God, while we have Mr. Hearst we can get along without it.

All hail to Mr. Hearst and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
EUGENE GIFFORD.

Woman Urges More Liberal Divorce Laws

Editor Boston American:

Certainly, our divorce laws should be more liberal. Much misery is caused by mismated couples, who do not believe in divorce, because "what God hath joined together—let no man put asunder!"

But—what about the unhappy children of such a union? It is heartbreaking to see what some of them go through, in such a home.

Better to be divorced, than keep up the sham for the sake of outsiders and the true sufferers are the innocent little children.
(MRS.) ELIZABETH SEIGEL.

Mother Asks Guard Over Thin Ice Ponds

Editor Boston American:

As the mother of two boys, just at that age when they want the excitement of trying out their skates on some pond or river with thin ice, I want to ask authorities in different cities or towns if they will safeguard youths by preventing them from skating on any ice that has not been pronounced safe by authorities of the town or city.

Accidents are now happening in this respect. One accident of this kind in the drowning of a boy has cast a gloom over one home. He trusted thin ice when he should have been restrained from trying it.

We want signs posted around ponds and rivers like this: "Danger! No skating allowed here." Must mothers be kept anxious over boys who slip away from home to try their skates on thin ice. Mothers need the help of the authorities in this respect.

Finds Advertising Pays Even in the Love Mart

Editor Boston American:

One of the strangest freaks in human nature is to advertise for a wife. A case like this happened recently in this state. Advertising is the great agency in the world to make known your wants. But when a man has to advertise for a wife he is in a class by himself. If a man goes fishing he does not advertise for the fish to be caught. He prepares his bait and gets an inkling where the fish are holding a conference in some part of the waters. Probably he has been tipped off on this matter.

If you want a wife, go in search for her. If you live in a small community, just point your eye upon the single one that appeals to your tastes. Begin gradually to indicate your spell of admiration. Here a little and there a little. Don't put it on too thick. Use some diplomacy. Study your moves. Give her growing attention. Add some spice to your words until they become very suggestive and then make the final plunge of love.
N. H. JONES.

Seeks Veterans' Backing of Cash Bonus Bill

Editor Boston American:

"The G. O. P. is Against Cash Payment for Veterans At This Time," a news headline reads.

I want to say right now, it is not only the G. O. P. but the heads of veterans' organizaitons also that are against cash payment to veterans of their adjusted service certificates. I am not a member of the American Legion and do not intend to become a member so long as veterans' organizations are against the welfare and benefit of the veterans. This was evident at the Boston convention in October, when the question of cash payment came before the committee.

Rep. Willis C. Hawley (R.), said I am standing by the action of the American Legion at their Boston convention, when they tabled a proposal to have the Legion support cash redemption of the certificates. You veterans who earnestly desire to get the cash for your certificates, answer me, what do you think of the committee who voted down this proposal?

You veterans of the American Legion and all other organizations wake up, why belong to an organization that votes against your wishes.

Ninety per cent of the veterans today need the money, and if they were to get it, it would bring happiness to their homes and loved ones.

You veterans of the rank and file of all organizations will not have a chance to vote on the bonus question; already these organizations are controlled by politics.

The leaders are shackled to the G. O. P. and must keep in step with their wishes to defeat the veteran of his money, which is rightfully his now.

Your chance is at the next election, so please every veteran who reads this, set down and write me a letter, saying you will vote against the Congressman or Senator who votes against the Wright Patnar Bonus Bill. I will place your letters at once where they will command attention.

47 Jailed in Riot of New York Students

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—After a march up Broadway, 200 sophomore students of City College stormed the Rivoli Theater at 49th st. early today and 47 were jailed. Climaxing the annual class smoker, the collegians rushed the doormen, swarmed into the theater and battled with patrons for seats. Chemical bombs and ammonia were hurled.

Railroad Foreman Killed by Locomotive

Worcester, Dec. 30—Edward J. Fallon, 50, of Maxwell st., a section foreman for the New Haven railroad, was killed by a Providence-bound train at Quinsigamond Village today as he attempted to cross the track directly in front of the locomotive. He was married and the father of three children.

Killed as He Sleeps

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—Two masked men with shotguns entered a home in Queens early today and fired eight slugs into Joseph Catabollata, 20, killing him as he slept.

Happy New Year!

This year the old greeting has a new and heartfelt meaning. There is not a right-minded person in the length and breadth of the land who does not hope for and plan for a happy year in 1931. And when millions of people are thinking the same way and making the same plans, great things can be accomplished.

So, with a year of unprecedented success behind our Company, and with serene confidence in the future, the Boston Ice Company wishes you all a Happy New Year.

LADY BARBARA'S 'HIDE' KNOWN

Worcester, Dec. 30—"Lady" Barbara Buffum Bramwell, fugitive from the State Hospital, is hiding in New Haven, Ct., despite failure of police to find her at the home of a friend there, State Detective Edward J. McCarthy said today he was convinced.

He said he had no suspicion that the anonymous telephone call which resulted in search there last night was a trick of the missing Oxford bride, who hoaxed 200 wedding guests into the belief that her ship's clerk husband was a baronet.

Failure to locate her he attributed to a sudden change of plans by her father, James Buffum, Oxford banker.

The detective finally called upon the New Haven police, he said, because without the bride's father or papers for her extradition he could not enter the home of Miss Helen Hall, a bridesmaid, where the girl is said to be hiding.

THE LAST MILE

By Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER 33

THE GUARD on duty at the door leading out of Mayor's cell was Harris. There was no need of a guard at the door at the other end of the corridor in this single story death house, for that door was green!

Beyond it was the "chair."

Harris, as Dick soon learned, wasn't as bad as some of the guards. In fact, next to old Flaherty, he was the best liked of the lot—if one can like the man who keeps guard over him so that he may not escape death.

After the guards who brought Dick in had departed Fred Mayor called out:

"You're in seven, what?"

"Am I?"

"Sure, he's next to me," called out John Mears, known as "Killer."

"Well, boys, I told you all about Mr. Walters——"

"Cut out the 'Mister,' Mayor," Dick called.

Introductions

"That's the stuff, Walters!" This was from "Red" Kirby, who was in cell nine.

"Right," Mayor said, and then, as if explaining to the others. "He was my boss at the machine works and a good boss, too. Elaine wrote me the other day about you, Walters."

Dick laughed.

"I'm not much to write about." Mayor said, "I'll introduce you."

"Why can't we be split up and put opposite—nobody in those cells across the way," Dick said.

"Don't want us to see each other—there's a reason, seven."

"Who was that?" Dick asked.

"Kirby in nine."

Fred Mayor proceeded with the introductions. There was no one in cell one. Mayor was in three, Mears in five, Kirby in nine as he just told Dick.

"Eddie is in eleven," Mayor said, "Eddie Werner, I told you about him before, Walters."

"Hello, Eddie," Dick called.

"Hol-mes!" came the weirdly spoken and mysterious word.

"Jeez!" muttered Dick.

"Don't you let that git you, boss—I'm up here at th' end—I'm Jackson, they call me 'Sunny,' but my name's Vincent."

"Swell name, Jackson," Dick said. "I guess you used to be the mayor of Darktown, what?"

"Darktown?" the giant negro chuckled. "Boss, I's mayor of Blacktown—I's pure black an' proud of it."

"They took my matches, I want to smoke—Oh, I remember, they don't let you have matches here——"

Harris came over and lighted Dick's cigarette.

"Hol-mes!" chanted Werner.

"Now, Eddy, cut that—don't start that now—give the new lad a chance to get settled," Kirby said, close to the bars of his cell, which adjoined Werner's.

"Aw, I don't mind him, boys," Dick called out.

"Wait a while," Killer Mears said: "just a little while. "If he's coo-coo, he's lucky. If he's fakin' he's a corker."

"Yes-yes-yes—" Werner paused, and then, "Hol-mes!" From this he started to recite.

"More of his cursed pomes," Mayor grumbled.

"You stop that, Eddie; it makes me feel mighty low down," Jackson pleaded.

"I will not dream in vain despair.
The steps of progress wait for me;
The puny leverage of a hair
The planet's impulse well may spare,
A drop of dew the tided sea——"

"Cut it, Eddie!" Jackson begged. Werner went on, undisturbed:

"The loss, if loss there be, is mine;
And yet not mine if understood;
For one shall grasp and one resign,
One drink life's rue, and one its wine,
And God shall make the balance good."

"Ps-s-st, don't encourage him," Mears growled.

"Any more to it?" Dick asked.

"Hol-mes," said Werner.

"Is he a religious guy?"

"Wait!"

There was silence for a while. It began to get on Dick's nerves a little.

"What do you boys do here?" he asked, suddenly, out of the stillness. Guard Harris glanced up from his magazine and winked at Mayor. Mayor shook his head.

"Wait," Mears finally said.

"Wait? Oh, yes—but—while you are waiting?"

"Sometimes we read old magazines or play solitaire or set a checkerboard between two cells and have a game, Walters."

Mayor spoke hurriedly.

They all knew, with the possible exception of Werner, who had gone crazy in the death house and was waiting for a lunacy commission to decide whether he would go to the chair or the prison for the criminally insane, that things would get worse for Dick as time went on—rather as time crept nearer and nearer to the fatal week that was always in the mind of each man there.

Jackson had secured two stays already. Mears and Kirby were waiting because of some technicalities that were prolonging their "sojourn" there, as they expressed it. It looked as though Dick would "go" a week or so before Mayor—the first of the five men there.

"Who was in seven before me?" Dick asked any of the men who would answer.

"I was, boss," Jackson called.

"Well, th' party who was in thuteen, he went away from here."

"Got out, eh? That's good."

"He got out—down at the other end," Kirby said, drily, "big guy, bigger than Jackson, they had to drag him out."

"Hush up! It makes me sick to think of it," Jackson declared.

"Oh, like that, eh?"

A bell sounded.

"What's that?"

Jackson laughed because Dick didn't know.

Harris unlocked the door and Drake came to take his place.

Drake came over and stared at Dick through the bars—stared at him as though he were some curiosity. It made Dick sore.

He waited until Drake went back to the chair by the door and sat down.

"Hey, Screw—a light," Dick called then.

Mears laughed raucously. Drake came over—he had to. The guards have to give the men a light any time they ask.

"Smart guy, eh?" Drake said as he held the match.

"Thank, you, sweetheart," he said.

There were chuckles up and down the line. Drake glared for fully a minute at Dick, but he pretended not to see him at all. Then Drake went back to his chair.

Dick wanted to ask what each one had done, but was afraid to ask—he thought perhaps it was not "good form."

He sat down and looked through the small, high, grated window.

He could tell by the sky that the day was drawing to a close.

Finally lights were out.

"Say," he said, "a guy gets used to this soon, doesn't he?"

"Sure," Kirby said.

Someone was snoring — away down the line, it was probably Jackson in thirteen, Dick thought.

Penitent

He lay for a long while—it seemed an eternity. Finally he slept, fitfully.

And so ended his first day in an institution far more horrible than the chair itself — the death house.

* * *

Sid Cavanaugh, his nerves shot, went to Jakes place after his work and drank too much; he did it deliberately. He wanted to forget.

Sid awoke with a hangover at noon next day. He was ashamed of his weakness in deliberately drinking himself into such a condition. He had to keep himself fit—he had plenty to do to try and get a stay for Dick—try and get new evidence.

And then a telephone message came from Nina Nissinger.

"He came back," was her message to him.

"Do you need me? Is he there now?"

"Glad to see you any time, Mr. Cavanaugh, but he isn't here. I met him at the doorway with my two men servants beside me. I told him what I had done."

"What was that, Mrs. Nissinger?"

"Please—not that name—I shall change it as soon as possible. I had everything that belonged to him packed up and taken down to that cottage of his. I told him about that and then told him that his lawyer had better see mine. After that I closed the door."

"Was he rough?"

"Penitent."

"Well, thanks for the message. I'll look him up."

"Don't worry," Sid assured her.

But he went directly to Merton Nissinger's cottage. Nissinger came to the door and seemed startled.

"I am going to give you the beating of your life, Nissinger," Sid said.

Nissinger thrust his right hand in his coat pocket.

"Try it," he said. "I've got my hand on an automatic—it shoots beautifully, right through a pocket!"

Sid Cavanaugh glanced at the bulge that Merton Nissinger's hand made in his coat pocket, then he looked up at Nissinger.

"Any yellow—— who strikes his wife is too yellow to even carry a gun—and any so-and-so who hires a thug to bump another off wouldn't dare to even make a pass."

"So help me, I'll shoot you if you move a step toward me," Cavanaugh," Nissinger cried.

He was almost gray with fear. Sid saw it and felt sure that Nissinger wasn't armed, but he took no chances. He made a sudden lunge and caught Nissinger's arm, twisting it with such a jerk that the pocket was ripped down.

Nissinger had been trying to bluff. Only his doubled fist was in his pocket.

He turned and tried to wrench away, he grasped at the door jamb and tried to get inside. Sid hauled him back.

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

THE FACILITY with which Mr. Bernard Shaw turns prolonged discussion into rather tasty theatrical fare has been the habit of a lifetime. In "The Apple Cart," which last evening started a new week at the Tremont, the learnd lecturer from over the sea made merry with the imaginary case of England of the future and the relations of the crown to its ruling politicians. It proved a fanciful evening, fairly sizzling with quips and jests that trickle so freely from the Shavian pen. It would be hard to tell whether you were laughing at Shaw or with him, or whether, perhaps, he himself was not laughing at you.

• • •

THE INCOMPREHENSIBLE Mr. Shaw! No matter how you take him, either in cordial respect for opinions brilliantly exploited, or in rank disavowel of them, you are bound to acknowledge the consistent humor of the man, his plausibility in the face of heavy odds and his mental agility. All these qualities, or talents if you prefer, were wrapped around "The Apple Cart." To give the comedy historical possibilities he moved forward the calendar to a far distant date and started a jolly row between King Magnus and his almost comic opera cabinet. The impending crisis was discussed bitterly and comically for an act running more than an hour and in which the king delivered an off-hand speech of some 2500 words. Pity the poor actor who must cram into his head so many words. Tom Powers, who played the voluble monarch, acquitted himself splendidly.

• • •

"THE APPLE CART" was not played in the familiar Shavian tempo of tempered comedy, with sharp jabs and thrusts, although these items had their frequent moments, but was done broadly and without restraint. As in the cabinet consultation with the king, for example, the line between comedy and farce was very thinly drawn. It was all discussion and banter, with Magnus having much the better of every tilt. And in the end, of course, he neatly laid an ace upon his ministers' cards and the play was ended with the royal house still the virtual, if not practical, head of the nation.

• • •

TO ENJOY SHAW, even to the point of enthusiastic devotion, presents no difficulties if the temptation to fathom his capricious designs on the playgoer is resisted. "The Apple Cart" is a debate — a wrangle between opposing forces bent on each other's destructions. Conversational? Yes; but bristling with humor as keen as anything the theater is likely to take in hand for some time to come.

• • •

• • •

IT IS CLEAR that Mr. Shaw does not take his nation's politics too seriously; because of that you may be grateful for an evening of profitable amusement.

Midnight Shows at Orpheum and State

AT THE PLYMOUTH for a limited engagement is Grace George in "The First Mrs. Fraser." In this scene from the play she is shown with A. E. Matthews.

OVATION FOR MACKINNON

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

BELIEVE IT OR NOT, George Collier MacKinnon is an actor. Famous for the quality of the matter he bangs out of his typewriter as columnist for the Daily Record, he yesterday burst upon the theatrical firmament as a full-fledged footlight entertainer. And his drawing powers were such that the MacKinnon "monicker" drew audiences to the Scollay Square Theater that broke all its records. It was a personal triumph for the columnist and a tribute to the stage show he is introducing as master of ceremonies.

That the MacKinnon fans are numerous was demonstrated by the ovation given the new star. But the writer had a big surprise for everybody; they knew his prowess, as humorist, and probably discounted his thespian ability. He met the big test—he soon had them laughing until their sides ached. And if his line of patter was smart and peppy, he also had looks, and stage presence.

• • •

IN ADDITION to numerous friends from the newspaper profession, there were notables from other fields, including Miss Queenie Smith, star of "The Street Singer," at the Shubert. They all applauded heartily, and when Mr. MacKinnon proved himself a singer by neatly turning out a chantey, they became thunderous with their handclapping.

The Scollay has a corking good bill for Mr. MacKinnon to handle in his own deft way. Among the entertainers were Marie and Ann Clark, topliners and stopping the show cold; Hayes and Cody, the charming Kennedy Sisters, the Scollayettes and the tuneful Musical Buds, all of them classy.

For the first show, Jacques Renard, whose orchestra is famous, took the baton as a special tribute to his friend, Mr. MacKinnon. He did a wonderful job. Through the week other conductors will share this work with Charlie Frank, the regular director at the theater.

HUGHES SIGNS HOWARD HAWKS AS DIRECTOR

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 30—The determination of Howard Hughes, millionaire producer, amazes me. Nothing stands in the way when once he makes up his mind to obtain a director or a player. He saw "The Dawn Patrol" and marveled. Here was a picture that equaled his "Hell's Angels" and made in one-eighth the time and at one-eighth the expense. He saw "Criminal Code," directed by Howard Hawks, the same director, and decided that he wanted Hawks for his company.

Hawks had a contract with Warner Bros. but I am told a technicality in the contract has freed him and now he has a three-year contract with Young Hughes. He will make "Scarface" as his first. There are those who say it is the life of Al Capone.

Louella O. Parsons

• • •

NOT SINCE the old days when Laura La Plante was Universal's pet comedienne and William Seiter was her director, have these two been together on the same lot. Laura has now joined her husband at First National Studios. She plays one of the feminine leads in "The Devil Was Sick." There is Louise Brooks, Yola D'Avril, Joan Blondell, Nina Qautero, Ethlyn Claire, Fern Andra and, says Hubert Voight, the F. N. press agent, it's an eyeful when they are all together.

• • •

BENNY RUBIN is in Pittsburgh. He sends a wire to say that although it poured the week before Christmas and that everybody knows that this week is traditionally the worst in the history of the theater, he broke all records. He says he is coming back in six weeks to make a picture.

• • •

I HAVE NEVER seen Hollywood as loath to settle down to business as it is this holiday season. You visit the studios and everybody talks about everything else but pictures. You call up the stars and they talk about everything but their work. Not so very much signing has gone on the last week in the old year. A younger brother of Johnny Mack Brown signed for a role in "The Secret Six." He is an Alabama player. Helen Ware, veteran actress, has an excellent part in "Party Husbands" at First National. Donald Crisp plays one of the important parts in "Svengali," at Warner Brothers.

• • •

YOU CAN HEAR almost any rumor in Hollywood. One that sort of tickled my risibilities and gave me a laugh is that Al Capone has promised to make a picture on "Crime Doesn't Pay." Edward Sullivan, who wrote "The Racketeer," will write the story. Al Capone will turn over his $200,000 to the unemployed.

• • •

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: JUNE COLLYER, looking very pretty, waiting for someone who did not appear at the Brown Derby. JUNE said it was a date that didn't materialize. MARY DUNCAN recovering from a bad cold. JOHN McCORMICK and FRANK JOYCE lunching at the Brown Derby and talking pictures. VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE back from Paris, where she visited her daughter. She reports BEULAH LIVINGSTONE is settled in Paris for the winter. GRETA NISSEN expected here January 10. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Grace George Is at the Plymouth

Grace George in "The First Mrs. Fraser" opened a limited engagement at the Plymouth last evening. This is the fourth of the presentations by the Professional Players. The play is a comedy by St. John Irvine, noted English dramatist and critic, and deals with the amusing affairs of two divorced couples. In Miss George's supporting cast are A. E. Matthews and Lawrence Grossmith, who are featured; also Charles Campbell, Mrs. Holbrook Blinn, Lowell Gilmore, May Marshall and Phyllis Edgar. "The First Mrs. Fraser" will be reviewed in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.

NOVELTIES ON GAYETY BILL

A special midnight show will be presented New Year's Eve at the Gayety. Many novelties will be added to the generous supply in "Flapper Follies." As midnight approaches there will be a carnival spirit. Holub's Jazz Hounds will introduce specialties.

Alice Duvall, LaVerne Williams, Nanette Daily, Mae Maiben and Marie Oliver are the featured feminine performers. Some of the chorus also stepped forth yesterday and did some little numbers which the audience appreciated to the utmost.

Eddie Lloyd and Jack (Tiny) Fuller were the comedians. Edd Lolor and Gus Flaig were others who added to their enjoyment.

JOAN LEE HIT AT HOWARD

That Joan Lee is one of the outstanding stars in burlesque was demonstrated at the Old Howard yesterday where she was accorded a rousing reception. In her honor there will be a special midnight performance on New Year's Eve and also on Friday night.

The burlesque attraction this week is known as the Step Lively" company. Harry Bentley came in for a big hand. Charles (Bimbo) Davis with his tramp antics kept the entire house in high glee. Evelyn Whitney was another hit. Evelyn Murray, Edythe Bates and Ellen Lane were favored also. George Levy was very funny.

Felice. Leeds New Year's Hostess

Debutante and Parents Will Entertain at Their Home in Brookline

HAPPY NEW YEAR'S EVE will be spent by a bevy of debutantes and their escorts at the home of Miss Felice Leeds, on Willard rd., Brookline, with dinner and dancing after the theater. About 150 guests will gather to see the Old Year out and the New Year in. A cozy ushers' dinner will be served before the dance with McMillan McElwain, Joseph Frothingham, Frederick Emery, Jr., E. Singleton Holden, Malcolm Bancroft, Roger Hallowell and Patterson Hale taking the honors with Miss Betty Scott, Eleanor Notman, Deborah Hall, Mary McElwain and Miss Leeds.

FRIENDS OF MR. AND MRS. LEEDS also will attend the dance, Dr. and Mrs. Serge Koussevitsky as guests of honor, with Mr. Arthur Fiedler, Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Mrs. Follen Cabot and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Sylvester. Among the debutantes who are looking forward to the affair are the Misses Sarah Palfrey, Jane Brown, Catherine Rust, Mary Lee Ware, Mary Illsley, Lydia Fuller, Constance Wentworth, Elizabeth Harding, Priscilla Simonds, Elizabeth Stevenson, Anne Peterson, Jeanne Sargent, Alice Means, Elizabeth Wells, Betty Pope, Barbara Hodges, Barbara Percival, Ethel Stevens, Ruth Clapp and Mary McElwain. Miss Leeds was presented this season by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Leeds, at a luncheon at the Ritz-Carlton.

MR. AND MRS. H. H. RICHARDSON are giving a dinner for the young people before the Elliot Hall dance on New Year's Eve.

Miss Phebe Russell Will Entertain at Milton Home Party

MISS PHEBE RUSSELL, a post-debutante and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Russell of Milton, is giving a jolly dinner-dance for a number of last year's buds and a group of Harvard lads at her home on Goddard ave. Miss Russell is having a college roommate, Miss Jane Averett of Chatham, N. J., as her house guest over the New Year. Among those who will make merry will be Miss Faith Garrison and her fiance, Mr. Robert Cushman, Miss Catherine Brown, Miss Margy Emerson, Caroline Day, Molly Spaulding, Dorothy Hall, Betty Mitchell, Edith Mitton, Roddy Holton, Philip Faversham, Gordon Smith, David Cheever, Marshall Grinnell, John Taylor, Joseph Holmes, Chevver Millard, Hamilton Thornquist and James Madden.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE EXAMINATIONS begin on January 9 with a lecture. This means a bit of serious work on the part of the provisional members—they must attend two out of three lectures, write book reviews, visit hospitals and otherwise prove they are good sports, useful citizens and willing workers for the league before they receive their full membership into this popular club.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS MANDELL of Hamilton have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Clarke of 295 Beacon st., parents of Mrs. Mandell, over the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Mandell will give a dinner party before the costume ball at the Myopia Club on New Year's Eve.

MR. EVANS DICK OF Pinckney st. is going down on the Cape for a couple of weeks fishing and gunning.

Debutantes Return For Many Parties to Greet New Year

A NUMBER OF THE DEBUTANTES are still out of town, but will return for the New Year's celebrations. Miss Catherine Rust is coming back from Philadelphia. Miss Barbara Holdsworth has been in Washington for a number of parties. Miss Catherine Brown is in New York and has been extensively entertained while there.

MISS BETTY DWINNELL and Miss Anne Felton are at Poland Springs for the winter sports. Connie Creighton and Rosamond Holton are also at Poland, but will return tomorrow.

CAPT. AND MRS. HENRY W. FORESTER returned to Pebble Beach following a trip to England and are spending the winter on Monterey peninsula. While in England Capt. and Mrs. Forester stayed at Hudcott, Salisbury, the Foresters ancestrial estates. They were married at Pebble Beach in April and sailed about the latter part of that month. Mrs. Forester was formerly Helen Foss, daughter of Eugene Noble Foss, former governor of Massachusetts, who met the couple on their arrival at Boston on the Cunard liner Scythia. The Foresters attended the international polo games before returning to California. Capt. Forester is expected to again play a prominent part in the winter polo season at Del Monte.

Spanish Church Facade Cracked

Barcelona, Spain, Dec. 30 (AP)—Collapse of some of the founadtion work of the Church of San Felix in Sabadell has opened up a crack nearly half a meter wide in the facade of the church. Damage is calculated at $50,000.

Hebrew Home for Aged in Campaign for Funds

By NANCY BREWSTER

The Hebrew Ladies' Home for the Aged Association officially launched its $35,000 emergency maintenance appeal today.

A pre-campaign luncheon, held yesterday at the home, presided over by Mrs. Sadie Solomon, served to gather together hundreds of workers for the drive and to solicit pledged efforts in the raising of the amount necesary to meet the deficit of the institution.

More than a quarter of a century ago, the association was founded by a handful of women. Today its roster numbers thousands of Greater Boston women whose dues and contributions maintain a modern and well equipped institution for aged men and women of the city.

NEEDS GROW DAILY

In an appeal for funds, the women executives of the drive and the home outline the growing increase of applicants for the home and the necessarily mounting finances to meet food, fuel, clothing, doctors and medical supplies.

Assisting Mrs. Solomon as head of the women's branch in the drive are Mrs. Sophie Greenstein, Mrs. Mary Shapiro, Mrs. Fannie R. Titlebaum, Mrs. Dora Winer and Mrs. Pauline Perlman, all vice-chairmen.

Meyer J. Sawyer, Nathan Ginsburg and Myer Dana head the emergency maintenance committee.

Citizenship Leader Plans Six Lectures to Aid Clubwomen

As chairman of Civil Service and Citizenship Training for the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, Miss Marian C. Nichols has instituted a series of six meetings to be held the first and third Mondays in January, February and March at her home, 55 Mt. Vernon st., at 10:30 a. m.

At the Jan. 19 meeting a practical demonstration on "The Appointing Official Chooses" will be given, illustrations explaining the basis of the "Merit versus the Spoils System."

The invitation to attend is extended to members of the two groups over which Miss Nichols presides and to all clubwomen interested in legislative work.

Wellesley to Have Carillon of 30 Bells

A year from today Wellesley College will ring out the old, ring in the new with a carilon of 30 bells, which the trustees have just ordered from Croydon, Eng.

The carillon will be placed in the Galen Stone tower of the new administrative building this spring, and will probably ring for the first time, according to President Pendleton, on commencement day. The new building, to be known as Hetty H. R. Green Hall, is now being furnished.

Providence, Dec. 30—The Providence common council last night passed a resolution requesting city employes to donate 2 per cent of their wages to a fund to be expended by the director of public aid for the purchase of milk, bread and coal for the needy of the city.

Young Find It Smart to Look Demure

MODEL from L. P. HOLLANDER CO., INC.

ANN ARDEN broadcasts latest style news over WLEX every Tuesday and Thursday at 10:30 a. m.

THERE, THERE, little girl, don't cry. This may seem like a very grown-up mode, from the morning right through to the evening. But we will tell you a secret—the grown-ups are trying awfully hard to be quaint and sweet and feminine, which is just what a young girl is anyway. Of course we know that you don't want to be all those things. You, as well as we, always want what we haven't.

* * *

But, really and truly, now is your chance to look extremely pretty, be the belle of the ball and soothe mother into the bargain. For these new fashions are pretty, and young men will always fall for a vision of loveliness much quicker than they will for sophistication. And you know how mother always wants to keep you looking as young as possible.

* * *

SO, CHIFFON, alone or combined with lace, all lace, and taffeta are the three smartest and best materials for your frocks. Ankle length skirts are worn more now than those which trail, so don't be demode and ask for one that is too long.

* * *

FLOWERS ON the shoulder, tucked into the belt, which is very fetching, or at the base of the decolletage are being used. Flowers in an old-fashioned nosegay are carried in the hand by some we have seen lately.

* * *

* * *

SILVER SLIPPERS again dance about smooth floors. Banished for a season or two and superseded by fabric pumps dyed to match or contrast with the gown, metal footwear returns for formal occasions. The metal returns with a vogue for sequins, for paillettes and brilliant embroideries that make the leather more in keeping with the evening ensemble. Gold as well as silver enters the fashion picture, again.

ANN ARDEN will answer questions concerning clothes, social customs or fashions generally. Address your questions to the Boston Evening American or the Boston Sunday Advertiser or to Station WLEX.

Marathoners Drop 4 to 11 Pounds in 26 Mile Event ↕ in Football Loss Is 2 to 6 Pounds Many "Train Up"

Six Day Bike Riders Gain Weight During Race

That was interesting data Dr. Thomas K. Richards gave out recently on the weight statistics of the Harvard football players and how with one exception every man on the team gained weight during the season. It is a popular fallacy that the end of the football season finds the players haggard and drawn. Most athletes, youngsters in particular, train up, not down, put on poundage rather than take it off. Regular habits, more sleep, better appetite, regular exercise and other things are responsible for it. Of course there are exceptions. Age and temperament make a big difference.

George Underwood

To the layman one of the most astounding things about the weight question in athletics is the amount of weight an athlete can lose in competition. Dr. Richards says that the Harvard players in the West Point game, which took place on a balmy day, lost from two to six pounds. We saw Martin Sheridan, the famous Olympic athlete, mount the scales before and after an all-around championship competition. The scales showed a difference of 12 pounds!

Mind you Sheridan lost that weight through breathing and perspiring alone. It is astonishing what weight can be burned up in strenuous and sustained physical exercise and cast off solely through lungs and the pores alone.

The doctor's statistics in the regular Boston Marathon would give some interesting data. They will show a Marathon runner during the progress of the race loses from 4 to 11 pounds. We were at one New York A. C. Marathon where the weight statistics divulged that the biggest man in the race, one Nick Gianacapulos, a stalwart 175-pounder, lost only four pounds, while another athlete, whose normal weight was 138 pounds, dropped 14 pounds!

Think of it, an athlete losing about one-tenth of his total weight in less than three hours.

Fat ladies take notice. The surest, quickest way for you to reduce that embonpoint is to join an athletic club and go out after Clarence Demar's Marathon figures.

That 138 pounder in the New York A. C. Marathon who dropped 14 pounds lost it at a rate of more than half a pound per mile. According to that average if he had run a couple hundred miles he would have reduced himself to nothingness.

A WEIGHT PARADOX

But, paradoxical as it may seem, the longer you compete the more weight you put on. Football players lose weight in a game, but they gain weight in a season.

One of the most unique facts about the weight question is that during the progress of a six day bicycle race the riders gain, not lose weight. This despite the fact that many of the riders start the race a bit over their best weight and figuratively ride themselves into condition. This, despite weight statistics will show that at the end of a six day bike race the average rider weighs more than when he entered it.

So those fair, fat and forty ones better not enter any six day bike races. They will have to stick to Marathoning to regain their girlish figures.

MILLER'S FEAT

We still recall what a hullabaloo was raised when at the end of that remarkable six-day bike race ridden by Charlie Miller in 1898—it was the last of the old one man go-it-alone affairs—it was shown that despite the terrific strain of riding 2007 miles in 142 hours, during which he had taken only nine and one-quarter hours sleep, Miller actually had gained in weight.

Prof. Atwater of Wesleyan, who was at the race to get certain medical data, checked up his figures carefully and found there was no mistake.

In 142 hours of most strenuous riding in which he had taken less than ten hours sleep Miller actually had gained three pounds!

A wonderful fellow was Charlie Miller. We recall how the last afternoon of the race the contest was halted temporarily while Miller at the trackside was married by Alderman Wentz to Miss Genevieve Hansen of Brooklyn. Wonder if Alex MacLean remembers it, too? Eddie Bald—Cannonball Eddie—was best man. Promoter Pat Powers stood by and blushed "Dutch" Waller, who had been "rough riding" Miller all the way, forgot his animosity and kissed the bride.

After the race the newly weds repaired to the Hotel Bartholdi, where they sat down to a wedding breakfast. Bob Fitsimmons, Tim Hurst and other sports celebrities were among the invited guests. Champagne flowed in buckets. Miller, despite lack of sleep and that terrific 142 hours of pedalling, was the liveliest, jolliest of the party. He and his pretty bride did not leave the banquet until the milk wagons started to roll by.

ENORMOUS APPETITES

One of the things, perhaps, that make six day bike riders gain weight during a race is the enormous amount of food they consume. They dine often and well.

In the same race in which Miller hung up the remarkable record there was a rider named Gross. Remember him, Alex? His wife was there to do the cooking. The first day Gross wanted so many meals that his wife rebelled and threatened to chuck up the job.

"You came here to ride, not eat," she snapped. "If you leave the track for another meal, today, I'll go home. I'm worn out standing over this stove."

"What?" shrieked his better half, but before she could continue, Gross explained:

"I fell off my wheel, Ma. Kinda makes me feel faint to my stomach."

"Oh, that's different," crooned his spouse." You poor fellow, I'll cook you some lamb chops and fixings."

If Mrs. Gross had seen the broad wink her husband gave the kitchen attendant over the success of his ruse there certainly would have been war in the Gross family.

Gate of Heaven Five Seeks Court Games

The Gate of Heaven Club of South Boston will present a fast semipro basketball team this year. Among the players are Bill Carr, G. McGowan, Tim O'Neil, Louie Peluso and Frank Lucas.

Manager Jack Dempsey would like to book a game away from home on New Year's Day. Natick A. A., North Reading A. A., St. Mark's H. N. S. and teams of such caliber are preferred.

SANTA SAYS HE'LL K. O. ROBERTI

By RINGSIDE

Jose Santa, Portugese giant, doesn't believe in keeping secret his plan to knock out Roberto Roberti, Italian heavyweight, in their 10-round bout at an Argonne A. A. show at the New Boston Arena on New Year's Day afternoon.

Santa is six feet seven inches tall and weighs 269 pounds.

Roberti himself is also quite a man mountain. He is six feet three inches tall and weighs 235 pounds.

Roberti stopped off at Sharon Gardens on his way to the Hub. He worked out there for six rounds. He will do his stuff at Kelley & Hayes' Gym today.

Eddie Mack says his first preliminary bout will start at 3 p. m., and that the main event will get under way at 4:15 p. m.

Mack has made arrangements with the National Broadcasting Company for huge amplifiers which will enable his patrons to hear the radio speech of Premier Mussolini of Italy.

New Heavyweight to Battle at Salem

Sam Price of Chelsea, who starred as a high school and college athlete, will make his bow as a pro heavyweight at Bat Silva's matinee boxing show at Salem on the holiday. Rice will trade blows with Paul Zeramba of South Boston.

Rice has been groomed carefully and his backers say he is ready to step in with the younger set in the heavyweight division.

The feature bout at the Salem club will bring together Jake Zeramby, Lynn lightweight, and Johnny Hanlon, his home town rival. These boys recently furnished a torrid session at Salem, Zeramby copping the decision by a hurricane finish. Hanlon is out to reverse the tables.

Horatio Velha of Gloucester and Mossy Doyle of Wakefield clash in a six-rounder. Another six-round event will bring together Harrison Allen of Gloucester and Eddie Ciafidoni of Lynn. A third six-session affair will feature Marshall Freitas of Gloucester and Johnny Novack of Beverly.

Tom Marvin Started Career as Boxer

Tom Marvin, "Chief White Cloud," who meets Karl Pojello, Lithuanian champion, in one of the preliminaries at Ray Rabiani's wrestling show at the Boston Garden on Friday night started his career in athletics as a boxer. At one time he battled Young Stribling. Tiny Roebuck is another former heavyweight boxer who is starring in the wrestling game.

Jim McMillen, former Illinois star, will oppose George Hills giant Wisconsin lumberjack, in the semifinal. McMillen won from Hans Bauer at the opening mat show at the Garden and is confident he will also upset Hills.

George McLeod to Show for Paul Bowser

"Farmer" George McLeod has been signed by Paul Bowser to meet the best available opponent in the semifinal to the Strangler Lewis-Lee Wykoff wrestling bout at the Arena a week from Friday night.

Golden Glove Finals Billed for Arena

The finals of the Golden Glove tournament will be staged at the Arena on next Monday night by the St. Joe's T. A. Society. There will be bouts at 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 and 175 pounds and in the heavyweight division.

IF You Don't Know—

Nearly 20,000,003 persons attended licensed greyhound races in England this year . . . WITH GIANT BOXERS DURING OFF HOURS

ROBERTO ROBERTI, when training for a bout, spends much of his time in the woods hunting upland game when in season. The Giant Italian in this way relieves the monotony of long hikes by taking along his dogs and gun, not to speak of three training partners. He is in tip-top shape for his bout with Jose Santa New Year's afternoon at the Boston Arena.

DARTMOUTH BOY WINS SKI RACE

Lake Placid Club, N. Y., Dec. 30 (AP)—Thomas Mann, representing Dartmouth College, won the cross-country ski race here today, the first event of the annual college men's week of winter sports, in which 46 men from 13 institutions will participate.

Mann covered the 15.833 kilometers, of which some uphill stretches are nearly a mile long, in 1 hour, 31 minutes and 51 seconds.

William Ball of McGill University was second. Another McGill man, R. W. Dorken, was close behind Ball. Fourth place went to Dartmouth when L. R. Page whizzed in close behind Dorken. E. J. Blood of New Hampshire followed Page to the finish line.

In an overtime game this morning, the hockey team from Williams College defeated the West Point Cadets' team four to two. Williams scored twice during a 10-minute overtime period.

Rowland Buys Reading Club

Chicago, Dec. 30 (AP)—Clarence H. Rowland, former manager of the Chicago White Sox and later an American League umpire, concluded the deal for the purchase of the Reading, Pa., club of the International League today.

The transaction will be closed tomorrow with the signing of the agreement, William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, owners of the Reading team, said. The Cubs operated this ball team as a farm.

Kerins Captains Medford Sextet

William J. Kerins, senior at Medford High, has been elected captain of the Medford high independent hockey team. He is a brother to Ed Kerins, last season's captain at Northeastern.

Medford high does not sponsor hockey, hence the school team plays independently.

Steps are being taken by pupils at Medford high to have hockey made a recognized sport and a big petition to the school officials is being circulated and will probably be presented to the incoming school board next month.

Hornsby Signs Up for Two Years With Cubs

Chicago, Dec. 29 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby will have two years during which to satisfy William Wrigley's demand for a world championship Cub baseball team.

President William L. Veeck today revealed that the Rajah had put his signature on a two-year contract more than a month ago. Veeck declined to say what salary Hornsby would receive, but it was understood to be $35,000 a season.

Carideo Agrees to Coach at Purdue

Hartford, Ct., Dec. 30 (AP)—Daniel E. Halpin, manager of the 1930 Notre Dame football team, announced that Frank Carideo, all-America quarterback of the "Irish," has agreed to coach football at Purdue University next year.

Crowley, of Four Horsemen, Tells Story on Rockne

New York, Dec. 30 (INS)—Several hundred football coaches from all parts of the country attended the annual banquet of the American Football Coaches Association here last night and were regaled with numerous anecdotes dealing with the game. Dan McGugin of Vanderbilt University acted as toastmaster in the absence of Knute Rockne, the Notre Dame coach, who is ill at Rochester, Minn.

"A lot of people wonder what Rockne says to his men before a big game," said Crowley, "well, in 1924, before the Army game we were sitting in our dressing room, tense and nervous. There was a knock. The door opened and in stuck that black, bushy head of Rockne. (Laughter). He said nothing and closed the door. He opened the door again and came in.

"Rockne looked at the fellows. Then he said: 'I just learned that the Army is going to kick you fellows all over the field and then kick you off the schedule next year. Well, they may kick you off the schedule all right but they're not going to kick you off the field."

"'Walsh, I expect you to show something at center today. I want you to throw good passes. I want you in there for 60 minutes of hard football.

"'Miller (left halfback), there is room for improvement in your work. Lots of room for improvement. I want 60 minutes of hard football from you, too.

"'Huntzinger, I'm using you at end. Be relaxed in there today, Huntzinger. Throw nice, fluffy passes—you know.

"'Quarterback Stuhdreher, don't do like you did against Wisconsin last week. Don't kick on the 40-yard line on the second down with two yards to go.

"And turning to me," Crowley added, "Rockne said: 'Jimmy, would you mind going in there at left half and trotting along with the boys?'"

McMillan Given Big Hand for His Story

The diners gave "Bo" McMillan, coach of the Kansas Aggies, quite a "hand" on his story. McMillan told of a team he coached in the South on which Dick Dasher, a 200-pound "Georgia Cracker" played. McMillan told the team he was going to hold a final scrimmage and decide which players were to go on a trip they all wanted to take. It was a hot scrimmage and Dasher was knocked out. McMillan rushed over to the fallen gladiator and felt his heart. He thought he was dead.

"Another player, Red Lawrence, rushed up to me and said, 'I hope he doesn't die.'" related McMillan. "I said, 'Why, Red?' 'He owes me four bits,' Red replied."

Herman J. Stegeman, athletic director of the University of Georgia, told one about Coach Alexander of Georgia Tech having been asked if it was true whenever his team played a Northern team they "fought the Civil War over again."

"Heck no," replied Alexander, according to Stegeman, "if we fought the Civil War over again we'd carry only five or six men with us."

Gus Welch Tells of His Scouting Trip

Gus Welch, former quarterback of the old Carlisle Indians, told a humorous story of the trip Pop Warner sent him on to New York to scout Holy Cross and Fordham; how Pop gave him a 2000 mileage book and a $10 bill; how he rode all over New York trying to find Fordham and finally got there after the first half was over. Eventually he got back to Carlisle with forty plays—"well doctored."

Harvard Ice Team Play Michigan

Harvard, victorious over the University of Toronto, will play the University of Michigan team at the Peace River Arena, Fort Erie, Ont., just outside the city of Buffalo, tonight.

On Thursday the Crimson team will play McGill, also at the Fort Erie rink.

Coach Joe Stubbs will not be able to see the Harvard team against Michigan, but will direct the play against McGill on New Year's Day.

California Strong for Notre Dame Man

Bekeley, Cal., Dec. 30 (INS)—That California is strong for the installation of the Notre Dame system of football was indicated here today as rumors filtered back from the East that two former Notre Dame players had the inside track on securing the position of California coach next season.

The names mentioned in connection with the jobs are those of Charley Bachman, Florida coach, and Harry Mehre, Georgia mentor. It is known that California representatives have sounded out both men and it is expected that one of them will be at the Calfiornia helm next year.

BOSTON WINS FIVE TITLES

Amateur boxers representing Boston won five of the eight finals in the intercity show at the Arena against boxers representing New York, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Nova Scotia.

There were six knockouts, two of them technical, but four of them were clean-cut and provided the outstanding thrills of the show. All the K. O.'s occurred in the semi-finals.

Those who scored K. O.'s included George Perrung, Pittsburgh; Al Zappala, Lawrence; Mickey Bishop, Stoughton, and John Renda, Fitchburg, while technical knockouts were scored by John Ricci, Somerville, and Frank Barranco, East Boston.

The highly touted Nova Scotia team was wiped out in the semi-finals, in fact only three of the visiting boxers punched their way through to the finals in the eight championship classes, and all of them won their respective classes.

George Perrung, Homestead, Pa., heavyweight, who knocked out George Owens of Cambridge in the opening ruond; Fred Delise, Philadelphia featherweight, and Paul Monar, Homestead, Pa., flyweight, were the only three winners in the semi-final from the ranks of the out of town boxers.

Chelsea Boys Win Camelot Titles

Boys' senior and junior Camelot champions were crowned today when Israel Selesnick and Benjamin Wilensky, both of Chelsea, won in their respective classes in the finals held at the Lynn Y. M. C. A.

For the past month tournaments have been held in Chelsea, Lynn, Salem, Everett, Somerville, Beverly and Gloucester.

20,000 See Londos Win Mat Battle

BANTAM GOLF

JOE CASHMAN

A novel tournament will be staged at the Indoor Country Club, Massachusetts ave., North Cambridge, on New Year's eve in conjunction with a big dancing party, which will be held in the Den, at the same address. Prizes in gold will be awarded to the men and women turning in the best scores. Play will start at 8 p. m. and continue until 2 a. m.

The new Unit Portable miniature golf course is on display at 320 Poplar st., Roslindale. This course can be moved outdoors very easily and can also be taken up and stored away without much trouble, which makes it ideal for a home, club, hotel or theater use. It occupies only 12 square feet of floor space yet it contains sand and water traps and all the other hazards that go to make the bantam game so popular.

The Winter Gardens on Gallivan boulevard near Neponset Bridge is mighty popular with the younger set of the district. It may be the fine 18-hole golf layout or it may be the check dancing with music furnished by a very snappy orchestra, but whatever the attraction, the boys and girls flock there in force every evening.

Babe Ruth and Jack Sharkey made a very creditable showing in their match which featured the official dedication of the Winter Garden. The Squire went around in 54 while the Bambino required one more stroke to complete the round. Those figures compare favorably with the record of 42 held by Char-

SANER·VIEWS NEEDED TO SAVE GAME

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

New York, Dec. 30—America's leading football coaches, recognizing the widespread glamor concerning the "overemphasis" of football in the colleges of the country, today had taken steps to cope with this criticism.

They took action after they had listened to two sizzling speeches—one by the famous Hugo Bezdek, director of physical education at Pennsylvania State College, and the other by W. W. ("Bill") Roper, former coach of Princeton University.

Roper's views hit the coaches in the right spot but Bezdek's were "too hot to handle." The coaches turned thumbs down on the "fourteen points" Bezdek advocated because they were either too advanced, or too radical.

The result was the 10th annual meeting of the Football Coaches' Association of America adopted the following resolution:

1. That football practice begin September 15, and not before—as in so many colleges.

2. That post-season games be kept to a minimum.

3. That charity games be discouraged.

4. That spring practice be not compulsory to candidates for the football team.

Roper told the coaches that "certain reforms have got to come" and that the coaches might as well take cognizance of the fact.

He expressed himself with vigor as opposed to spring practice, declaring "we must do away with the training camp, which is a relic of the prize ring." He urged the coaches to minimize the all-year-around football idea and give other college sports a chance.

Bill Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, speaking before the coaches, strongly denounced alumni control of football. When alumni control succeeds, Bingham warned, coaches would retain their positions only as long as the team won and intimated a limitation of football rivalry.

"This situation," said Bingham, referring to dangers of alumni control, "is what causes Carnegie investigations; this unreasonable greed is responsible for proselyting, athletic scholarships and subsidies.

"This cowardly attitude on the part of some institutions will, and in the very near future, make it necessary for many colleges to refuse competition with colleges who do not accept their athletic responsibility."

Davis Points Out Dangers to Game

Again in the evening, at the banquet of the coaches, the same warning note was sounded by Senator James J. Davis, former Secretary of Labor.

"The football team exists for the college. The college does not exist for the football team. That is the only danger looming today as I see it, and if it does exist it has been brought about by the prominence in which football finds itself."

Senator Davis continued to say that football, therefore, was in danger of extinction because it was overemphasized commercially.

John F. (Chick) Meehan, of New York University, was elected president of the association succeeding W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech. William H. Cowell, of New Hampshire, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Dr. Marvin Stevens, of Yale, was chosen first vice-president and McGugin, second vice-president.

N. C. A. A. Delegates Want Coaches Members of Faculty

New York, Dec. 30—Delegates to the 25th annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association today discussed at length in a round table conference the suggestion that football coaches be made members of the faculty.

Dean S. V. Sanford, University of Georgia presided at this morning's session. Prof. Charles W. Kennedy, Princeton University and president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association discussed the relations between the coach and the faculty.

"The coach has been left standing as a buffer between the college, the alumni and the faculty," he said. Kennedy said there was a certain element in the colleges which demanded football victories that were not always "in the wood."

He advocated a very sincere and definite upholding of the hands of coaches who represented the athletic ideals of a university.

Fred W. Marvel, professor of physical education and director of athletics at Brown University, asserted the salary question would have to be given consideration. He pointed out that there was a difference between the salaries of the faculty member and that of the coach.

"I am in favor of coaches being members of the faculty, however," he said. "The coaches are just as important as the members of the faculty in their relationships to the students."

By BILL GRIMES

Bill Grimes

As Clapper drew his third major penalty for the season for participating in the free for all fight with the Philadelphia Quakers, he was suspended by Pres. Frank Calder. With Clapper out, the Bruins will be without their most consistent scoring punch, for the big boy from Hastings, Ont., has been beating goalies with a marked regularity this season, and his loss will be felt.

The loss of Clapper and Darragh has caused Manager Art Ross to shake up his forward line combinations. The Beattie line is intact and will have the call as the starting trio. Harry Oliver and Marty Barry will be on the flanks with the stellar "Red" Beattie at center ice.

Perk Galbraith will be at Clapper's wing on the Weiland line, with Smokey Harris as the third member of this unit, while the Chapman trio will be composed of Dutch Gainor and Jack Pratt as wingmen with the former Rhode Island Red in the play maker's berth.

Beattie Helps Balance Bruins' Line

The acquisition of Jack Beattie and the shifting of Marty Barry from centre to left wing rounded out the best balanced line the Bruins have presented this season. Beattie, Barry and Oliver are goal getters and, barring accidents, will develop into one of the best lines in the N. H. L. before the final curtain falls on the present championship race.

Not only has Jack Beattie scored in every game he has played for the Bruins, but he has been credited with five assists for passes which either Barry or Oliver converted into goals.

Oliver has been one of the outstanding right wingers in the N. H. L. since he joined the Boston club, while Marty Barry is a natural wing man, whose ability to jump around a defense and get into scoring position has already been recognized by opponents and fans around the Calder loop.

Perk Galbraith has been converted into a right wing, and, although the offside position is new, he has been equally as effective as he was on the opposite flank. Perk may not score many goals, but he is generally admitted to be the closest covering wing in the N. H. L., and Hec Kilrea will have his troubles trying to shake himself free of the Bruin veteran.

Jack Pratt is working hard to make the grade, but his progress has been retarded, due to the fact that Manager Ross has been shorthanded and forced to use him on the front line as well as the defense.

BABE RUTH GOES INTO TRAINING

New York, Dec. 30 (INS)—Babe Ruth officially started training today for the 1931 baseball season.

The homem run king of the Yankees reported at McGovern's gymnasium where he played handball, boxed a few rounds and performed abdominal exercises as his preliminary pre-season training. He weighed 233 pounds, his average weight for this time of year. He expects to be down to 220 pounds by Feb. 1st when he will go South.

Artie McGovern, who has supervised Ruth's winter training since 1923, declared the big fellow was in better shape than usual. The Bambino corroborated this statement as he posed for photographs with his daughter Julia.

"Took better care of myself this winter than ever before," he said "Regular home-cooked meals, regular hours, lots of sleep and a little golf and hunting now and then have worked wonders for me."

Stuffy McInnis to Coach at Norwich

Northfield, Vt., Dec. 30 (AP)—John P. "Stuffy" McInnis of Manchester, Mass., big league baseball player from 1909 to 1926, has been appointed baseball coach at Norwich University for the 1931 season. Athletic Director R. D. Potter made the announcement today.

McInnis set a world record in 1921, when he made only one error in 1652 chances. McInnis played seven years with the Philadelphia Athletics, four with the Boston Red Sox, one with Cleveland, two with the Boston Braves and one with Pittsburgh.

GOOD GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON
"Golf's Greatest Teacher"

START WITH THE QUARTER SWING

Some professionals teach to begin throwing the club away from you, toward the right, from the top of the back swing. It gets fine results in many cases, though, as a general principle I don't like it, because it tells the player to do something with his wrists, and my idea is that your wrists will know what to do if you get your swing in working order otherwise. I like keeping the wrists "cocked" until the swing is well on its way forward, but don't even do that if it causes you to think of your wrists while you are swinging. The thing to do is avoid being in too great a hurry to get back to the ball. Over-anxiety to hit causes a lot of mishits. It causes a jumping at the ball, which is bad, as the swinging action should be smooth. Have in mind to take all the time needed and, from the top of the back swing, start your arms, especially the left one, directly toward the ground, holding your body back. This makes the clubhead sweep into and through the ball.

Mary Whittemore Wins Way to Third Round

By BILL CONNELL

Mary Whittemore of Dublin, N. H., scored her second victory in the junior girls' championship tennis play at the Longwood Cricket Club covered courts, today, defeating Louise Harding of Brookline in a fine three-set battle, 4—6, 6—4, 6—2.

The powerful shots of Miss Whittemore, the only left-handed player in this tournament, were too much for the Brookline entry. Miss Whittemore's control in the first set was not good and she dropped the decision to Miss Harding.

However, the Dublin girl came back in the next set and managed to stroke out a 6—4 win. In the third and deciding set, Miss Whittemore reached her top form and earned her 6—2 win, giving her the set and match.

In a first-round match Grace Cutter of Winchester won easily from Gladys Norris of Brookline in straight sets, 6—3, 6—1.

Hilda Boehm of Malden, seeded No. 1 in the tourney, came through with an easy win over Martha Boyden of Winchester, the latter girl losing in two love sets.

The match, Miss Boehm's first of the tournament, showed the Malden star to be in perfect form, and on the strength of her initial performance, she is a heavy favorite to go through undefeated until the finals.

FIRST ROUND

Grace Cutter, Winchester, defeated Gladys Norris, Brookline, 6—3, 6—1.
Betty Proctor, Winchester, defeated Alice Farnsworth, Chestnut Hill, 2—6, 6—3, 6—2.

SECOND ROUND

Mary Whittemore, Dublin, N. H., defeated Louise Harding, Brookline, 4—6, 6—4, 6—2.
Marian Wood, Brookline, defeated Lucy Fowle, Winchester, 6—1, 6—1.

FIRST ROUND GIRLS' DOUBLES

Helen Fulton, Chicago, who drew a bye in the first round defeated Betty Proctor of Winchester in a three-set battle after the local girl sustained injuries to her left eye and ankle.

Miss Proctor was struck on the side of the face by a ball just as she was making her second score.

This injury failed to halt the Winchester girl and captured the second set 2—6, after dropping the first set to Miss Fulton 7—5.

MISS LOUISE ROOD was beaten in the opening round of the Girls' title tennis, but she played fine tennis. She will have other chances in coming tourneys.

Jacobs, Defending Champ, Eliminated in Nat. Tennis

New York, Dec. 30 (AP)—E. Ramey Donovan of Fordham preparatory school, New York, scored a sensational upset in the national junior indoor tennis championship today by eliminating William Jacobs, the defending champion from the University of Pittsburgh, in straight sets in the quarter-final round. The score was 6—3, 6—4.

JUNIOR SINGLES

BOYS' SINGLES

Sidney Weinstein, New York, defeated Alfred L. Jarvis, Hackley school, N. Y., 6—4, 7—5.

E. Ramey Donovan, New York, defeated William Jacobs, University of Pittsburgh, 63, 6—4.

Wichita Gets Three Players from Browns

Wichita Falls, Tex., Dec. 30 (AP)—Acquisition of three players now on the roster of the St. Louis Browns was announced today by the Wichita Falls (Texas League) club. The trio are George (Buck) Stanton, first baseman; Morris Badgro, outfielder who has been with the Browns for two years, and Joe Hassler, shortstop.

Stanton comes to Wichita Falls on option of recall at the end of the season, while Badgro and Hassler were purchased outright.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

Mr. Boston says he finds that pulling a couple of sleds loaded down with healthy youngsters three to four miles is an excellent form of road work. Try it for reducing.

Mr. Boston

"In case you don't know," declared Mr. Boston, "most men over 40 (and this also goes for the ladies) would be healthier if they ate half as much food as they do and did fives times as much exercising.

"I'm going to hand some advice to the teachers of journalism in session here which I received from the late Foster Coates, famous Hearst editor, 20 years ago. 'When you write a news story,' said Coates, 'restrict yourself in the use of words as if you were paying cable tolls at the rate of $1 a word. Get the news into the first paragraph so that it will be easy to cut your story if it is necessary to do so.'

"I shall always remember the collars Coates put around the necks of the members of the Massachusetts Legislature who turned down their constituents for the New Haven railroad interests.

"I once saw Coates order a paid ad thrown out of the paper because it interfered with a typographic makeup he desired.

Foster and Buckley Exchange Greetings

"Edward C. Foster, chairman of the Rhode Island Boxing Commission, and Johnny Buckley, manager of Jack Sharkey and Ernie Schaaf, wished each other a prosperous year in 1931. Foster then lifted the ban he placed on Buckley following the Callahan-Fuller bout at Tiverton, R. I., last August. Foster's action automatically placed Buckley in good standing in Massachusetts, New York and in states controlled by the National Boxing Association. He had been suspended in these places as a result of working agreements with Little Rhody.

"Ernie Schaaf has six to nine eggs for breakfast. Lucky he lives in Wrentham where there are plenty of hens.

"Pop Foster, manager of Jimmy McLarnin, drew $80,000 from the same bank just before the crash, but still had a balance of $5000 in the institution that was closed.

"Jack Sharkey is going to Florida for a vacation next month. He wants to play golf at the Bay Shore Golf Club. So do I, but I cannot get away.

Sonnenberg Drew $2,000,000 at Gate

"Gus Sonnenberg drew $2,000,000 during the 23 months he held the world's heavyweight wrestling title. He put $250,000 into the Boston Garden in five matches, his bout with Lewis doing $72,000.

"Alex Sullivan, press agent for the wrestling shows at the Garden, arranged the Harry Greb-Mickey Walker world's middleweight bout for Humbert J. Fugazy in New York.

"Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, who once was glad to pick up $300 boxing at the old Commercial Club in Bowdoin sq., will take the place of Mateo Osa against Pierre Charles in the New York Garden on Friday night.

"Max Baer, Coast heavyweight, will be handed a soft one when he opposes Tom Heeney in the New York Garden on January 16. The Garden is anxious to build up Baer, who recently made a hit by his showing against Ernie Schaaf.

"Baer has a 16-cylinder Caddy which is operated by a chauffeur dolled up like a movie actor.

"Max had a case of champagne with which to celebrate after his bout with Schaaf, but there wasn't anything to celebrate.

"Oh, yes the price of rye has shot up $10 a case since Christmas, so they tell me.

26 PLYMOUTHS FOR POLICE PATROL

The motorization of the Boston police department was further developed yesterday when Commissioner Hultman and Superintendent of Police Crowley took delivery of 26 Plymouth cars.

These cars were assembled in front of police headquarters when with little ceremony Charles E. Fay turned them over to the heads of the police department. Each car bore the particular number plate of the department and also the number of the station to which it had been assigned.

TWO FOR HARBOR POLICE

It was noticed that two of the cars, all of which were completely equipped, carried the designation of Station 8, the harbor police.

When this fact was called to the attention of the officials, they said, "Well, we might put pontoons on them, but instead they will be assigned to the Criminal Investigation Bureau."

The cars made a most impressive appearance as they were lined up for inspection, previous to acceptance by the city. Each car was manned by a uniformed policeman. The police officials, Commissioner Hultman, Superintendent Crowley, Captains Laffey, Driscoll and Skillings, accompanied by Charles E. Fay, Allan M. Fay and William Howell of the C. E. Fay Company, made an inspection of the outfit, and then came the acceptance of the same by Commissioner Hultman.

In discussing the new outfit, Commissioner Hultman said:

CONSIDERED OF VALUE

"Supplementing the regular police force a new 'Uniformed Automobile Police Patrol' will operate from divisions and headquarters, using the 26 new automobiles recently purchased by the department on very favorable terms. It is expected that the service will be of great value in providing protection against holdups and other crimes of violence involving the use of automobiles, as well as facilitating the prompt pursuit and capture of criminals involved in such cases.

"Motorcycles at this season of snow and ice are too dangerous for street duty which makes it an opportune time to commence this automobile patrol. While the particular duty of this selected detail will be to deal effectively with the dangerous criminals, it will be called upon for service in all sorts of emergencies and troubles. These police cars will be constantly cruising the territory both day and night, and the officers being in uniform will make it easy for them to be identified by citizens needing assistance.

"With a view of keeping in close communication with the automobile patrol units the signal system is being readjusted so that by means of flashing signals on the boxes contact may be promptly made, even between regular duty calls, with all or part of the 'Uniformed Automobile Police Patrol' to post them to be on the lookout for criminals operating in automobiles suspected of passing through their districts or for emergency assignments.

Millions Drive to Canada Each Year

An average of 10,000 automobiles a day from the United States crossed the border into Canada for touring in the first six months of 1930. More than 1,814,182 American motor cars entered the Dominion between January and July of this year. One of the biggest factors in attracting American motor tourists to Canada has been the improvement and extension of the Dominion's good roads system. All of the nine provinces are co-operating in highway improvement, and with the assistance of the federal government are providing a system of roads that is second to none.

OAKLAND ADDS 25 DEALERS

Twenty-five dealers were added in Greater Boston by the Oakland Motor Co. According to Fred Sibley, Boston zone manager of the company the expansion was made to establish closer contact between factory, dealer and consumer. He said:

"The company made a study of the Boston area to determine just where dealers should be located to render greatest service at reasonable profit. As a result, where the company previously had but a few direct dealers in Greater Boston, the number under the new organization plan will be increased to about 25. This will place us in a position to have close contact with owners and to give the best of care and service.

"The change is planned to afford definite benefits to the dealer organization and the motoring public. The public is brought one step closer to the factory and the new group of direct dealers will benefit through highly specialized assistance which factory executives are able to provide in servicing, accounting, selling and management.

"The new direct dealer outlets in Boston are: Hosmer Motor Sales, Medford; Melrose Garage, Melrose; Union Motor Sales, Somerville; Sabean Bros., Inc., Quincy; W. L. White Motor Co., Chelsea; W. T. O'Brien, Jr., Dorchester; W. H. Boyson, Woburn; Liverpool Garage, East Boston; Stanwood Sales, Inc., Roslindale; Healey Motors, Inc., Watertown; Reo Cambridge Co., Cambridge; W. H. Campbell, Beverly; West Concord Motor, Inc., Concord; Thorp's Garage, Weymouth, and Haynes Garage, Canton."

Average Driver Goes 11,000 Miles a Year

It is estimated by the Ohio State University that the average motorist drives his automobile about 11,000 miles a year at an average cost of 6.43 cents amile. Of this cost about 20 cents of every dollar is spent for gasoline, three cents for oil, 27 cents for maintenance, 22 cents for depreciation, 10 cents for tires and tubes, seven cents for garage rent, three cents for insurance, two cents for license and six cents for interest.

Gasoline Tax Hits 3.39 Cents a Gallon

The average motorist in the United States is now paying 3.39 cents in tax for every gallon of gasoline he uses in his car. The highest tax per gallon is six cents, and the lowest two cents. The tax bill on gasoline for the first six months of this year amounted to $230,600,455 in 48 States and the District of Columbia.

Chrysler in New Record Road Run

Officially opening the Jefferson state highway, an all-paved road from the Missouri state line to the Minnesota state line, a Chrysler Eight, driven by George H. Derry, Chrysler dealer at Lamont, Ia., and his son, Ralph Derry, made the distance of 244 miles in 231 minutes, says Allan Fay of C. E. Fay Co, Chrysler distributor.

This excellent performance of the Chrysler Eight, a stock car selected from the dealer stock of the Manbeck Motor Sales, Des Moines, established a new world's record for a cross-state run. The average speed was 63.4 miles per hour and the highest speed attained during any one hour was 85 miles per hour. The former record was held by another Chrysler Eight, averaging 62.4 miles per hour, and was made from the Missouri state line to the Capitol, 84 miles in 74 minutes.

The Chrysler Eight which established the new record left the Missouri state line at 6 a. m. and arrived at the Minnesota state line to meet the Minnesota governor and officials at 9:51 a. m.

RADIO EAR TO DETECT KNOCK

Radio science has entered a new field and is now controlling anti-knock qualities in gasoline.

Microphone and vacuum tubes, magnifying sounds a hundred-fold, have been combined with other delicate instruments to form an electrical ear to detect the faintest whisper of a knock and yet to remain deaf to other engine noises.

The apparatus, sensitive to sounds far beyond the range of the human ear, was developed by scientists of the Atlantic Refining Company, according to Dr. T. G. Delbridge, head of the company's research laboratories. It was designed in the course of research leading to a new type of gasoline, perfected after years of study and an expenditure of more than a half million dollars. Necessity for the device arose when scientists were able to find none capable of interpreting engine noises, or delicate enough for their purpose.

In operation, the "mike" is suspended from coiled springs near the engine testing the gasoline. Sounds that could not be heard by man are picked up by the microphone, and the rest of the apparatus then selects and magnifies the knock and registers the sound intensity on the dial of a sensitive meter.

OLDS COMPANY RECALLS MEN

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 30—Several thousand men have been recalled to work during the past few weeks by the Olds Motor Works, manufacturers of the Oldsmobile, and it is reported that production of a new 1931 model Oldsmobile is well under way.

According to reports current here, the car is practically new although the fundamental design of the Oldsmobile, which has proved so successful during the past three years, has been retained. It is positively known that there are substantial changes made in tools and dies prior to the recent inquiries in production activities.

New mechanical features, some of which have been confined to the higher price field, are reported to have been incorporated in the new Oldsmobile. As a result a more powerful, faster and quieter car is promised.

The Fisher Body Corporation's plant, which adjoins the Oldsmobile factory also has increased production and here, too, it is reported that the lines of the new Oldsmobile will be materially changed.

NEW DEALERS HANDLE NASH

Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 30—The enthusiastic reception accorded the four new series of cars introduced in October by The Nash Motors Company and the country-wide approval among motorists of the company's new automobile deal for today's dollar has brought 95 new motor car dealers under the Nash merchandising banner in less than two months' time.

These new dealers are now functioning as members of the Nash selling organization, located in all parts of the country and in Canada, according to C. H. Bliss, general sales manager of The Nash Motors Company. In addition, there are many new dealer contracts now in the process of completion. He pointed out today that this substantial addition to the company's national force not only serves to build up the retail strength and service facilities of the organization, but also indicates the confidence in Nash products in business circles troughout the country.

"We credit this significant increase of the Nash merchandising organization to the company's traditional policy of fair policies to both dealers and Nash owners," he said.

RADIO Personalities

They're telling one around the NBC studios which is too much for a New Englander to swallow. JOHN WHITCOMB of the Vermont Lumberjacks boarded a Fifth ave. bus to get to the NBC studio, and during the trip the conductor passed down the aisle four times collecting fares. And each time, it is reported, John solemnly gave him a dime. . . . A few New Year resolutions: GUY LOMBARDO and PAUL TREMAINE resolve to get more sleep. MORTON DOWNEY is determined to feature a medley of three songs of the last decade whether his listeners like it or not. BEN BERNIE promises a new line of wisecracks. NAT BRUSILOFF resolves never again to become involved in heated argument over jazz with TOSCHA SEIDEL. FREDDIE RICH has decided not to bet on fights. BERT LOWN resolves to make a million. ANN LEAF claims she will ignore all salutations such as "Little Organ Annie." And not one resolution about leaving the stock market alone. . . . HARRY VON ZELL played his first dramatic part on the air when he took a leading role in "Behind Those Words," heard last week.

Festivities Heard on CBS From 10 to 2 and on NBC From 11:30 to 3:30

New Year's eve celebrations will be heard on the air from a dozen cities in two continents, with a record number of the leading orchestras participating. The Columbia chain will offer a four-hour program from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m. The NBC network will celebrate from 11:30 to 3:30 a. m.

Differences in time will enable listeners to hear the midnight celebration from Buenos Aires, Argentina, which will be heard over WNAC at 10 p. m. The Plaza Hotel orchestra in that city will entertain with native Argentine tangos after a word picture by Nelson Riley, newspaper correspondent.

Subsequently the WNAC audience will be transported to New York where Paul Tremaine and his orchestra will offer 10 minutes of music. For the next ten minutes Boston will be the scene of action with Mickey Alpert and his group at the microphone. Dance music will follow from New York with the Henderson, Downey, Lombardo, Lown, Lanin and Aviator orchestras holding intermittent sway. From Montreal listeners will hear Jack Denny; from Los Angeles, California Melodies; from Chicago, Ben Bernie; from Toledo, the WSPD Commodores and from Toronto, Romanelli and his orchestra.

On the NBC hook-up with WEEI taking the program locally, twelve dance bands will be heard during the four hour period. Such figures as Vincent Lopez, Horace Heidt, Johnnie Hamp, Paul Whiteman, Phil Spitalny, Jimmy Joy and Jess Stafford will be heard from New York, Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco. In addition there will be heard street noises, whistles, chimes and shouts as the final hour of the year approaches in the five cities. Each city will offer something different in the way of entertainment.

MRS. NORMAN OGDEN WHITEHOUSE, former Russian Princess, who is guest speaker of the "Pond's Afternoon Tea" program this evening over WEEI at 5:15.

Concerning Radio

Edited by BILL WHIPPLE

Statistics, as a rule, are something we abhor; and we would lay a small wager that you, too, pass them by with a shudder. But there are times when a statistical report attracts our interest and attention; when it has a significance which enlightens our curiosity, and we peruse the report with great relish.

Such a one has come to hand from the Columbia Broadcasting System's publicity department; we are going to pass the substance of it on to you, believing that the information will be of interest.

The CBS began the year 1930 with 43 station outlets in 38 cities and has increased its facilities during the year to a total of 77 stations in 71 cities, which they claim to be the largest radio network in the world. There are, in addition, the two shortwave transmitters in New York and Philadelphia, W2XE and W3XAU.

The wire facilities of the system increased from 4882 miles to 12,528 miles, or 156 per cent. Twenty-four of the stations affiliated have incorporated apparatus to give 100 per cent modulation, and their programs are now available to 96 per cent of all radio sets in this country.

During the past year over 4600 hours of musical programs have originated from key station WABC, and about 1900 voice programs. Since the early part of the year popular music (which includes dance orchestras) has diminished by one quarter, semi-classical music has fallen off by almost three quarters, and the time devoted to classical music has been trebled. Total time for talks and other vocal programs has remained almost constant, while drama and dialogue have become more popular and show an increase of fully 50 per cent.

Space will not permit of further interesting facts which show us how rapidly this husky young radio infant is growing. But what we have transcribed will give you some idea of what is behind the announcer whose cultured accents proclaim this to be "The Columbia Broadcasting System."

"Hot Air" is not a particularly beautifying phrase, yet that is about all there will be coming out of the ether during the next three days. In honor of 1931, radio is getting all steamed up, and a whirlwind series of programs will be heard. Programs of a more serious nature pertaining to the New Year will also be heard. Here are some of the highlights:

WNAC at 10:30 tonight. A New Year's review featuring "Paramountania," a medley of song successes from Paramount pictures of 1930.

WNAC at 9:30 tonight. Ringing out the old year, Howard Barlow raises his baton for the last time in '30. When next week rolls around Mr. Barlow and his symphony orchestra will be heard by a network almost double tonight's listeners.

WNAC at 8 tonight. With the departure of 1930, so goes the Blackstone program from the CBS circuit. As a parting gesture Crumit and Sanderson put on extra steam, preparatory to their NBC debut next week.

WNAC at 7. The annual New Year's message of His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell. The second in the history of radio and the Catholic Church that the diocesan leader has personally delivered his message of greeting and blessing through the medium of the microphone.

WLEX at 9:15. A Scotch New Year's party with Wee Geordie Hardie returning to the air. On the same program are George Smith, piper; Peggy Creagh, soprano, and Isabelle Kelly comedienne.

WBZA at 9:30. Reinald Werrenrath, Mary McCoy, Billy Hughes and Willard Robison making a contribution to the New Year. Charles Previn, leader of the orchestra, has made a special symphonic arrangement of each number played.

Over the CBS network, at 6:58, His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of the Anglican Church, will be heard for the first time by American listeners. Big Ben, the famous clock over the House of Parliament, will usher in this international broadcast.

WEEI at 7:20. Tom Powers, one of America's foremost actors, a principal player in Bernard Shaw's "The Apple Cart," will present some of his original poems. Powers is remembered as "Charlie" in "Strange Interlude."

WNAC at 9. Its whistle blasting out a "Happy New Year," the Fast Freight will carry a special cargo of music. Al Chance, announcer, will give a lesson in geography as he introduces the selections of Eddie, the organist.

WEEI at 8:30. Gladys Rice, soprano, and Douglas Stanbury, baritone, will feature a gay and festive New Year's Eve program. Of all the appropriate music to be heard, the one that seems the most fitting to the occasion is "Champagne Polka," played by the concert orchestra.

Over the NBC-WJZ network at 12:03 a. m. Fifty-seven minutes of "good clean fun" will be presented by station master Ambrose J. Weems, from NBC's mythical station KUKU. The presentation will be the celebration of the Cuckoo's first year on the air and NOT the celebration of New Year's, says Mr. Knight.

The Weather

For Boston and vicinity—Cloudy and colder tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy and colder; moderate west and northwest winds.

For Southern New England—Cloudy and slightly colder tonight and Wednesday; fresh to strong west and northwest winds.

For Northern New England—Light snow, much colder in interior and slightly colder on the coast tonight; Wednesday partly cloudy and colder; fresh, possibly strong, west and northwest winds.

OCEAN FORECAST

Steamers departing today for European ports will have fresh to strong west winds and somewhat overcast weather to the Grand Banks.

CLUB WOMEN OPPOSE MOTHER'S SACRIFICE

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Wilda Gardner, bookkeeper in a hardware store, is in love with Logan Townsend. He is no Adonis, Wilda thinks, but "he has a rare smile." Wilda's father dies and her mother, Gracie, becomes a different woman when the lawyers say the estate will amount to $100,000. She plans a trip to Europe. Wilda has a wonderful time at a house party where Logan asks her to marry him. Myrtle, who is determined to win Logan, turns up at the dock as Wilda boards steamer for Europe. Logan's leave-taking is affectionate. In Paris Gracie becomes interested in Mr. Gigi Cortes. But Wilda sighs for Logan, and wishes he was with her.

By MAY CHRISTIE

(Copyright, 1930.)

Robert Gordon was extremely interested in meeting his old friend, Gracie, down in the south of France after the lapse of so many years.

Lorma Latour, however—the ex-actress—did not seem so pleased.

Had the "proprietary rights" in him? wondered the widow, noticing the lady's watchful demeanor.

But, one way or another, what did that matter?

Poor Robert
Had Lost His Looks

Poor Robert, genial as he was, had lost the handsome looks that had been his a quarter of a century ago. He had been 23 years old then . . . she had admired him awfully . . . and if he had asked her then she would have married him

But now—

Well, a quarter of a century is a long time!

"Darn it all, Grace—no, I won't call you Mrs. Gardner! . . . you're as good looking as ever you were when a flapper!"

That pleases her.

"And you—" she began, then stopped. She was naturally truthful.

"Politeness won't let you tell me what you think of me! But I'm on to you! You think the old man's fat and bald and bay-windowed!" And he roared with laughter. He was good-natured.

She was quite put out. "You've still got lots of hair, except for the patch on the top——"

"Now don't wiggle out of it—I'm no sheik!" He turned to the ex-actress. "Lorma, this Gracie knew me in my very early days when I had a waistline and a divilish way wid me!"

"You still have got the 'way,'" averred the woman he called Lorma. She smiled with sudden charm upon him. Wilda and Gracie noticed that her teeth were very white and regular. When she smiled she looked younger and pleasanter "You know, Bobby, I'm very fond of you."

Hates Mere Boys
Lorma Likes Robert

"Ah, but you should have seen me in the days when Gracie knew me!"

"You're O. K. now. I hate mere boys. The middle-aged men are the only ones that are really attractive."

"Hark at the woman! I notice you don't back her up, you, Gracie Gardner . . ."

What a contrast to poor Bob! Even allowing for the difference in age, the comparison was sadly to Bob's detriment.

But as far as any "romance" was concerned, she could muster no enthusiasm.

Her thoughts went back to Gigi nearly all the time they talked, there on the little wooden platform on the edge of the Mediterranean.

"So you're leaving for Italy

Dry Law Held Valid Here

ATTY. ABBOTT U. S. ATTY. STONE

SPECTATORS JAMMED the Federal court yesterday as Judge James A. Lowell made a decision upholding the Eighteenth Amendment. Essex Abbott, attorney for the defense, and Asst. U. S. Atty. Elihu D. Stone are shown reviewing the decision handed down recently by Judge Clark in a New Jersey court, which declared that the dry law was invalid. (Staff photo.)

Losers in 18th Amendment Fight Consider Appeal

The possibility that Boston's 18th Amendment test case is not ended was revealed today.

An appeal may be taken from the ruling of Judge James A. Lowell in federal district court yesterday, in which he upheld the constitutionality of the dry law.

Judge Lowell refused to read briefs submitted, and denied motions to quash indictments against three alleged liquor violators, made on the basis of the recent ruling of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, that the Eighteenth Amendment was invalid.

The defendants were John Brand of Somerville, James Sadowy of Danvers and Louis Pelleriti.

Their counsel, former Asst. U. S. Attys. Essex Abbott, Daniel A. Shea and Joseph V. Carroll, were to confer today to determine whether or not they will take an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Judge Lowell, in denying the motion, cited the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court in 1920 in the case of Rhode Island vs. Palmer saying

"I am bound by that opinion.

"I don't think that argument of Judge Clark is any good at all. His opinion is entitled to great respect, but he had no power to grant that motion."

New Soldiers' Home Asked in State Bill

A bill looking for establishment of a new state soldiers' home was filed today at State House on petition of the Massachusetts Department of the United Spanish Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A special commission of 11 members would be created to investigate and report to the Legislature

Crippled Trawler on Way, Under Convoy

Convoyed by the coast guard patrol boat Jackson, the steam trawler Notre Dame, with engine trouble was coming to port today with 52,000 pounds of fish from George's Banks.

The Notre Dame wirelessed her owners, the Atlantic & Pacific Fish Co., that she would not reach Boston before night.

Unemployed Men to Supervise Coasting

Unemployed men are to be placed on various streets in Cambridge this week to protect and supervise coasters, it is announced by Mayor Russell. The group is to be paid with funds from the recently created unemployment trust fund to which the business men of the city have contributed

Several of the streets in the city are to be shut off and put under guard of the men employed for the purpose. The children will be taught not to coast into intersections or "hitch-on" to passing machines

Arrest Made in Garage Liquor Raid

When federal agents raided a garage at Revere Beach boulevard and Second st., Everett, last night, they claim they found assorted liquors valued at $3000. This is the second raid on garages since Saturday night by federal officers

Prior to the raid, Agent Thomas DeAngelo held up an automobile leaving the garage and said he found alcohol and liquor in the car. He arrested Harry Blume, who gave his address as Fayston st., Roxbury

LIEUTENANTS SHIFTED BY AYLWARD

Action Follows Investigation Made by the Commissioner, Sweezey

The most drastic shakeup ever made in the Malden police department, affecting one-third of its members, including lieutenants, sergeants and patrolmen, was ordered today by Capt. John H. Aylward.

It is understood that the order was issued on instructions of Police Commissioner Artemus B. Sweezey, who has been conducting a personal investigation day and night for several weeks

The announcement was made at rollcall today. It takes effect Thursday

Twenty-three patrolmen are shifted to different routes, several of the present routes are shortened and two new ones are added, giving better coverage in the thickly populated districts

The leadership of the liquor squad, instead of being given to one sergeant more or less permanently, will be passed from one to another at intervals. Other duties of the sergeants will be similarly exchanged from time to time.

There will be no more regular house duty for certain lieutenants who have been enjoying this assignment. Instead they will alternate on street duty. The purpose is to familiarize the sergeants and lieutenants with all phases of police work.

COYNE DEMANDS BIG 'L' PROBE

A petition for appointment of a special unpaid commission of seven members to reorganize the Boston Elevated system was filed today at the State House by former Representative Francis X Coyne of Dorchester

The board would comprise one member appointed by the president of the Senate, three by the speaker of the House, and three by the Governor

"For the first time since 1919 the revenue of the Elevated has been exhausted," Coyne said in commenting on his petition. "This means a huge deficit, and home owners will undoubtedly be compelled to make it up.

"The depreciation allowance, about $5,000,000 a year, is altogether too large. And there is a lot of employee deadwood, stuck away in corners all over the system, that can be dispensed with."

Lights Sought for Boston-Salem Pike

A bill to authorize the state department of public works to light the Boston-Salem turnpike between Ward st., Revere, and Fox Hill bridge, between Saugus and Lynn was filed at State House today by Rep. Tony A. Garafano of Saugus

Burglary Suspect Held in $1000 Bail

Daniel Regan, of Huron ave., Cambridge, charged with stealing merchandise from a dry goods store at 628 Mt Auburn st., Watertown, after hurling a brick through the window, was held for the grand jury in $1000 bail in Waltham District Court yesterday.

Poor Technique in Skiing

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENED to Miss Mildred Nadler, of Dorchester, when she tried out her new skis at Franklin Park yesterday. Mildred also tried out her new skiing outfit.

TROLLEY CRASH JAILS AUTOIST

Crashing head-on into a trolley car today, and side-swiping a taxicab Samuel Sendler, 34, of Ocean st., [illegible] escaped the hospital but [illegible] in the police station, charged with driving without a license.

The accident, in which Sandler's sedan was smashed, occurred in Donnelly sq., Beachmont, when he tried to pass between a parked taxi and the trolley car. The sedan skidded on the icy pavement.

The jar broke several windows in the street car but passengers were uninjured

Dean of Woburn Taxi Drivers Dead

Frank A. Fitzgerald, 65, who in 50 years of cab and taxi driving in Woburn has become one of the most picturesque and best-known figures of that section, dropped dead in his cab last night at his stand at the railroad station. His collapse was seen by another taxi driver, who rushed him to Choate Hospital. Death was pronounced due to heart disease. Fitzgerald was the first man in Woburn to start operating an automobile taxicab

Mussolini Thanks Curley for Flag

Benito Mussolini premier of Italy, yesterday cabled Mayor Curley his appreciation of a gift of the official flag of the city of Boston. His message was

"I have received the flag of the city of Boston you have sent me. I heartily thank you for your generous act and I cordially exchange the sentiments which such occasion has expressed."

Wife Asks Divorce After 45 Years

After a married life of 45 years Mrs. Lucy E. Combie of Somerville has filed a suit for divorce in the Middlesex Probate Court against William J. A. Combie, charging him with desertion. She says in her petition she was married in Providence, August 13, 1885, and that her husband left her in Somerville in March, 1918, or 33 years afterward She then waited 12 years before seeking a divorce

Deer Island Fire Tip Wins $15 Prize, Drowning $10

News may come from anywhere and this was proved last week by the winner of first prize in the news tip contest.

The first flash on the fire at Deer Island and the dramatic story of 100 prisoners acting as firemen was the winner. The person who phoned the news desires the name be withheld but a check for $15 is in the mail

The winner of second prize of $10 told first of the tragedy in Muddy River, Back Bay, where one boy was drowned and two others were rescued. The Boston Evening American was the only afternoon paper with the story, thanks to the alertness of Paul Drake of 56 Pembroke st., Newton, who get the $10

FIRE STORY GETS $5

Saturday's fire in Lynn was third prize winner and the $5 prize goes to a person whose name is withheld by request

As in other weeks prizes of $2 each were awarded for quick reports telephoned by keen-eyed readers. They were

R. F. Bee of 69 Logan st., Everett. Man drops dead.

RESCUE TIPS WIN

(Name Withheld). Rescue of a fishing trawler by coast guard

(Name Withheld). Assistance on trawler rescue story

(Name Withheld). Picture on trawler rescue story

Mrs. Edward Kelley of 21 Claymoss rd., Brighton. Tip on Brighton fire.

Another opportunity awaits you this week. News is breaking every week and every day. It might be near you now but it's up to you to turn it into cash by calling the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000

Trask Visits Allen

Edward A. Trask, national commander of the Disabled Naval Veterans' Association, called to pay his respects to Governor Allen at the State House yesterday.

$50 Weekly for News and Picture Tips

Do you want to get money for being alert? If so, the Boston Evening American offers the opportunity. Each week $50 in prizes will be given for news and picture tips telephoned into the News-Tip Editor, at Liberty 4000.

And what is a news tip? It's the information that something of interest to Greater Bostonians has taken place or will take place. Do you know, for instance, that an interesting picture is to be obtained, that an accident or an unusual event has happened, that there is going to be a business merger? That's a news tip. If you have a camera, take a picture of some news event, while it is happening. Pictures of unusual animal poses are wanted, too. Bring your action pictures to the American quick. Delay often spoils them for use in the American.

There will be $15 given weekly for the best or an unusual event news tip received; $10 for the next best; $5 for the next best, and $2 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips. Of course, the first one who turns in the tip in an interesting event receives the award on that particular item. Anyone who is alive and alert can win.

WIDOW COULD HAVE HELP OF STATE, THEY SAY

Some Think Sale of Self to Science Would Hurt Her Children

A storm of protest against Mrs. H. A. L.'s contemplated sacrifice of herself for one year of life and $10,000 to insure the future of her children, has arisen among leading clubwomen.

Mrs. H. A. L. is the young widow who offered herself for medical research through germ inoculations or otherwise either before or after death in exchange for this sum and one year of respite

Leading women, many of them mothers themselves, agreed that such a sacrifice would not benefit but [illegible]

URGE STATE AID

"She should accept state aid or any other aid to tide her over hard times rather than deprive her children of her sheltering care," Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird declared. "Their mother's love is worth more than 10 times the amount of money she seeks for their material comfort."

Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, mothercraft and child welfare chairman in the State Federation of Women's Clubs, warmly defended state aid to mothers, citing numerous instances of [illegible] where families have been kept together and children given normal home life with their mothers through the [illegible]

"This mother evidently misunderstands the purpose of state aid to mothers," Mrs. Kimball said. "It is not charity but legal funds voted for mothers' aid and welfare of the family. Instead of contemplating such a rash act she should welcome this helping hand that makes possible the family unit when the mother is left with children to rear."

BETTER FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. H. A. L. could not have thought the proposition through, in the opinion of Mrs. Edwin L. Pride, vice-chairman of the New England Conference of State Federations of Women's Clubs.

"She has evidently not considered what the effect of her sacrifice would be upon her children," Mrs. Pride pointed out. "Might they not blame her rather than praise her for giving up her life for such a small sum? And how could she be sure that if she gave up herself and left $10,000 it would be administered as she wished"

Mrs. Pride suggested that Mrs. H. A. L. take any aid that will put her on her feet and then she can live a life of self respect and have greater influence for good on the lives of her growing children

MANY AID AGENCIES

"It is impossible to think that this mother will not be helped," Mrs. Pride said. "There are so many agencies eager to help keep families together that all she needs do is let her need be known. She cannot expect to bear all this burden alone and should accept help rather than contemplate a step that she may regret later."

This is a community problem which is up to the churches more than to any other agency in the opinion of Mrs. Frank Stetson, chairman of social welfare in the State Federation.

"It is the duty of Christians to seek out the worthy needy who are too proud to ask for aid," Mrs. Stetson declared. "This woman should not be permitted to do anything so rash as she contemplates. There is sufficient money even in these times of stress to take care of mothers in such straits without her being forced to such extremity."

Volpe to Be First Assistant, and Crafts Will Also Remain in Office

Warren L. Bishop of Wayland, who becomes district attorney of Middlesex County January 7, today selected William G. Andrew of Cambridge and Paul R. Foisy of Lowell as his new assistants.

Besides the newcomers in the prosecutor's office two of the present staff will remain. They are Frederick A. Crafts of Weston and Frank G. Volpe of Arlington, who [illegible] under Dist. Atty. Robert T. Bushnell, for the past four years.

Volpe will be the first assistant district attorney. He has made an [illegible] record [illegible] and is only 21. He is 45 years old and a graduate of B[illegible] Law School.

[illegible] Andrew has served as [illegible]. He is a graduate of Cambridge Latin School and [illegible] and [illegible].

[illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A[illegible] in that city. He is also a graduate of Boston College class of 1922 and of B. U. law school. He is active among Franco-American societies in Lowell and is a charter member of Lowell Post 57, American Legion.

Assistant District Attorney Crafts is an associate judge of Waltham District Court, a graduate of George Washington University and [illegible] of a degree [illegible]. At college he was all-Southern halfback for two years and has been credited with originating the "huddle" system.

Winter Spots Take Heavy Accident Toll in Boston

GEORGE E. CONNOLLY

EVELYN STEININGER

MRS. STEININGER

HELEN McGUIRE

MARY HOLLAND

AN ACCIDENT LIST of 19 children was rolled up in Boston yesterday as thousands of children sported with new Christmas sleds and skates. George E. Connolly, 6, of 3 Magnolia sq., Roxbury, received a fractured skull when his sled crashed into a truck. Evelyn Steininger, 13, of Ellsworth st., Dorchester, was brused about the face in a coasting accident. Helen McGuire, 10, of 56 Adams st., Roxbury, was bruised about the legs when knocked down by a coaster. Mary Holland, 18, of 116 N st., South Boston, received a broken right leg when she was knocked down by skaters at Marine Park, South Boston. (Staff photos.)

PHYSICIANS ASK MORE LATITUDE

Amendment of the law so as to give freedom of action to registered physicians, chartered hospitals, instructors in medical schools and publishers of standard medical books and periodicals in employing adequate contraceptive measures for women who are sufferers from organic diseases of the heart, lungs or kidneys, is urged in a bill filed today at the State House by a group of leading physicians and specialists.

As the law now stands the petitioners declared physicians are in certain doubt as to their freedom of action, the confusion being especially apparent in the staffs of hospital.

It is claimed that this uncertainty jeopardizes the lives of many women each year.

Man Near Hospital Swallows Poison

At a spot between Massachusetts General Hospital and Charles st. jail Michael Sullivan, 26, of Lo[illegible] st., West Roxbury, swallowed poison today. Sergt. Frank Murphy of Station 3 and another passerby carried Sullivan to the hospital, where it was said he would recover.

HOOVER RAPPED BY JOURNALIST

[illegible] criticism of certain governmental practices at the convention today of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism and the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism at the Hotel Brunswick.

"Mr. Hoover, in attempting to define proper criticism, is taking unto himself a freedom that is the province of no individual, be he mental or President.

"He has taken the first step in tearing down a most vital and fundamental principle of our government—the right of the people and of the press to express themselves."

He spoke with reference to President Hoover's criticism of a New York newspaper which [illegible] of the Department of the Interior [illegible] the department was [illegible] funds.

"If the charges were not true," said Crosman, "recourse lay in an action in civil or criminal court.

"Mr. Hoover enunciated a dangerous theory which is of a like character with what seems to be a growing tendency in governmental circles, namely, a restriction of what newspapers may utter regarding the affairs of the government."

Boylston K. of P. Plan New Year Fete

Massachusetts Praised for Tuberculosis Work

Praise of Massachusetts' manner of caring for [illegible] and a statement that household germs are [illegible] unimportant as carriers of disease, featured [illegible] day's [illegible] of American bacteriologists at M. I. T.

Dr. S. A. Petroff, international authority on tuberculosis, denounced the [illegible] connection with this disease and declared he knew of no short cut to a cure.

Reassurance regarding household germs was given by Dr. Petroff, who is head of the research laboratory at Trudeau Sanitarium, Trudeau, N. Y., and by Prof. C. E. A. Winslow of Yale School of Medicine.

GUINEA PIG TESTS

It followed the reading of a paper by Dr. Murray P. Horwood of Technology, who said eight of 32 guinea pigs [illegible] from bacteria obtained from nine samples of household dust secured from better than average homes.

He said 47 samples of household [illegible] were collected from [illegible] Boston and [illegible] necessity for [illegible] clean [illegible].

At the conclusion of Dr. Horwood's paper, Prof. Winslow arose and said that while he realized the [illegible] of bacteria, they are not as important as carriers of disease in anything like the same degree that direct contact with sick persons is, or the sprays such as a sneeze.

IMMUNE TO DUST

Dr. Petroff said he was of the same opinion as Prof. Winslow. He told of [illegible] with dust from rooms [illegible] tuberculosis patients. The dust was blown in contact with guinea pigs which failed to contract tuberculosis.

On the other hand he said the guinea pigs contracted tuberculosis from bacteria removed from door knobs handled by tuberculosis patients and from telephone mouthpieces into which they had talked.

Group Advertising for Back Bay Stores

The Back Bay Association Inc., in [illegible] today urged its member firms to arrange their store budgets in order that all may participate in the group advertising program that will start in the spring. Merchants of the Back Bay district are doing considerable advertising now, a survey conducted by the organization shows.

The bulletin declares that comment of various merchants, to the effect that extreme cold is more harmful to trade in the Back Bay than is either rain or snow, is another indication that a large department [illegible] an advantage in the district.

ST. PATRICK BORN IN ROME, SAYS PRIEST

Rev. John E. Sexton Tells of the Theory Drawn From Reading "Confessio"

St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, was born in Rome, according to a theory propounded today to the American Catholic Historical Association in session at the Copley Plaza.

The theory was advanced by the Rev. John E. Sexton, D. D., professor of church history at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, who stated he based it on the one surviving writing of St. Patrick, "The Confessio."

Fr. Sexton said he had also studied works on St. Patrick, and had traced to their origins words in hymns and stories, reaching the conclusion that Ireland and numerous other countries mentioned as the native land of the saint had no claims to the title.

IRELAND END OF THE EARTH

"Historians," he said, "encounter the most difficulty in placing once and for all the birthplace of St. Patrick. In his 'Confessio' we find St. Patrick stating when he was going from his home to Ireland that he was going to the end of the earth.

"According to the recent historian Berry a journey from Rome to Ireland at that time would have seemed like traveling halfway around the world.

"In Ireland St. Patrick was visited by an angel who said he would lead him home. After his six or seven years' exile he says he traveled two days across the sea, 28 days over the desert and 10 more in order to get among men. This would have brought him through Gaul to Italy, according to my theory.

ROME HIS BIRTHPLACE.

"At his home St. Patrick's relatives tried to make him swear never to go back, but his vocation had dawned on him. He could hear the Irish voices and wanted to return to aid them. He was ordained in Italy and from the various translations I have made my theory is that he was ordained in Rome, his birthplace."

The Rt. Rev. John B. Peterson, D. D., presided at the third day of the meeting.

The election of officers returned Carl Becker of Cornell as president, Herbert E. Bolton of the University of Colorado, first vice-president; Charles A. Beard of New Milford, Ct., second vice-president; Dexter Perkins of the University of Rochester, secretary, and Constantine E. McGuire of Washington, D. C., treasurer.

Split Second From Death

LOOKING INTO A GUN! That's what Leo J. Viniti found himself doing when a young man came into his insurance office at 1282B Dorchester ave. to talk about registering his car. Someone phoned a mystery tip to the police, so that they got there while Viniti was a "holdup patient." Police arrested Thomas Moneypenny and took away his gun. (Staff photo.)

Thief Makes Speed With Time---$100 Worth of It

The thief asked to look at some watches. After examining several, he told the clerk he would like and octagonal watch somewhat larger than the one he then held.

3 ARRESTED IN LOTTERY RAID

Three men arrested and 6000 pool slips seized today in a police raid on a house in Massachusetts ave., South End.

The men arrested gave their names as Harry Buckman, 42, and Saul Rappaport, 20, both of Crowell st., Dorchester, and Samuel Weinberg, 21, of Morton st., Mattapan.

They were booked at East Dedham st. station on a charge of setting up and promoting a lottery.

The raid was conducted by Sergt. Edward O'Neil and Special Officer Albert Hurst of the East Dedham st. station, who have had the house under surveillance for several days.

Today after the three men alleged to be agents, went into the house the police entered and found them in a room they admitted having occupied for a month.

Dow of Swampscott Has Connecticut Post

Harold F. Dow, superintendent of schools at Swampscott, is to be appointed superintendent of schools in Danbury, Ct., following a deadlock over the post since June. Dow was approved by the sub-committee of the town school board today by unanimous vote, and the approval is said to be the equivalent of appointment.

UNKNOWN TIPS OFF HOLDUP

A telephone "tip," a dash in the police car and three officers caught an alleged holdup man "red-handed" today in the insurance office of Leo J. Viniti at 1282B Dorchester ave., Dorchester.

When they entered the office they found Viniti standing behind a desk and a youth, who said he was Thomas Moneypenny, 19, of New York, facing him, with his hands in his coat pockets, one holding a revolver.

"No," said Viniti.

Finnegan and the other two officers, Patrolmen John Kelly and Joseph Dauphan, fell on the youth, searched him and found the revolver.

Viniti said the stranger came in and talked about taking out auto insurance, suddenly pulling out the gun and demanding his money.

10 Gifts Stolen From City Hall

Theft of more than 40 prospective Christmas gifts from City Hall Annex on Wednesday last became known today when it was learned that a secret investigation is being made.

On Christmas Eve, while employes of the supply department were making merry at their department party, 20 packages were stolen from an adjoining room.

On the same day articles that were to have been presented as gifts were stolen from desks in the office of the sanitary division.

BLAMED FOR DEFEAT IN NOVEMBER

New Management Seen as Revitalizer of Party, Attracting Thousands of Votes

Civil War broke out today in the Republican party with the adoption of a resolution by the executive committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts demanding changes in the management of the Republican State Committee, "under whose direction the last election campaign was lost."

State Sen. Henry Parkman, Jr., president of the club, presided at the meeting. Present were Eben S. Draper, George R. Wallace, Jr., Christian Herter, Charles B. Barnes, Jr., Judge Kenneth D. Johnson and Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House.

WOULD REVIVE PARTY

"Many Republican candidates for office in Massachusetts, including the nominee of the party for governor, whose record of public service was of the highest order, suffered defeat in a Republican state last November.

"The opinion exists among a large number of Republicans throughout the state, whose interest in the party is both sincere and unselfish, that a general change in the management of the Republican State Committee, under whose direction the last election campaign was lost, would meet with favorable and heartening response from many thousands of actual and potential Republicans, would revitalize the party, would broaden the base upon which the party rests and would draw to Republican standards thousands of new voters who are looking for progressive party leadership.

URGE EARLY ACTION

"The situation demands a new deal. As the first move in this direction, the executive committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts believes that there should be a change in the management of the State Committee and urges both the chairman and the members of the State Committee to recognize the situation frankly when they meet in January to organize for the next two years."

The war that broke out in the party today is similar to that of 1891 when Governor William E. Russell was elected and the present Republican Club was organized to bring about a general cleanup.

Emmanuel College Girls Plan Dance

Liquor in Auto No Crime, Rules Judge

Liquor in an automobile no longer is illegal in Massachusetts, unless it can be proved the liquor was intended for sale, Judge Dowd ruled today in municipal court. He found William A. Benson of Everdeen st., Dorchester, not guilty of keeping and exposing liquor.

"A man might carry a gallon of liquor in his car and still not violate our state law," said Judge Dowd.

Woman, 95, Burns to Death in Home

Mrs. Helen L. Fisher, 95-year-old widow of 46 Church st., Dedham, was burned to death in her home when a wrapper caught fire from the kitchen range. Fred Salman, an employe at the home of Mrs. Fisher and her 90-year-old sister, Mrs. Addison Baker, heard screams in the kitchen, but reached the aged woman's side too late to save her.

Fraternity Leaders Gather in Boston

'Frat' Life Aid to Students in Class Work Is Claim

Scholarship rating among fraternity men throughout the country is [illegible] non-fraternity men, according to [illegible] conference, composed of most national fraternities.

Meyer said that in the past fraternity scholarship averages have been below those of non-fraternity men. In recent years the gap has closed. This year the social order boasts superiority.

This proves, he asserted, that fraternities today can be and are instruments of cultural and intellectual development, and not the [illegible] to education so many have claimed them to be.

ROUGH HOUSE OPPOSED.

Statistics now [illegible] during the past year the records of 200,000 students in 175 universities and colleges are 1 per cent higher than the average of all undergraduates and 2 per cent better than that of non-fraternity men.

At Kappa Nu's executive session a resolution was passed strongly opposed to the "rough house" initiation methods employed by some national fraternities. The 200 delegates from 61 chapters all over the country voted unanimously against violent methods of initiation.

A resolution was passed for the appropriation of a yearly scholarship fund of $300 for competitive entrance to the Hebrew University at Mt. Scopus, Palestine. This will be known as the Hebrew University scholarship fund of Kappa Nu.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Election of officers for 1931 will take place late today. The year's retiring officers are Garson Meyer of Rochester, N. Y., national president; Milton J. Greenbaum of Saginaw, Mich., national vice president; Harry K. Herschman [illegible] Rochester, N. Y., national [illegible].

[illegible] Harvard and Boston University [illegible] will take place.

Winters Faces Dry Law Charges Here

Hardly out of Lowell court on a suspended sentence of a year, imposed yesterday, Charles P. Winters, Tewksbury shack dweller, who lured Mrs. Anna May Walker from her Western home and husband with promises of riches and luxury, was brought back to Boston today to answer to a charge of violation of probation. The probation was imposed in 1928 for larceny.

Winters will be arraigned in municipal court tomorrow on the violation-of-probation charge.

Probation Officer John P. Bogan, Jr., of Boston and State Trooper Arthur Chaisson went to the shack in the woods at Tewksbury and took Winters into custody.

Historians Guests at Gardner Museum

Members of the various historical associations, including the American Historical Association and the American Catholic Historical Association, in convention in Boston were guests last night of the trustees of the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum at the Museum in the Fenway.

HISTORIANS HEAR LOWELL

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, in discussing noted historians [illegible] Harvard [illegible] the experience of the United States in the Philippines is one proof of that [illegible] to trouble.

The Harvard University head was host at a luncheon to the American Historical Association, which is holding its 45th annual meeting in Boston, and six other allied organizations, including the American Catholic Historical Association.

"We believe that one day history will come into its own," he said. "People seem to disregard history.

"One of the things that history has shown to be invariably fatal is that, if you try to rule a people by an appointed governor and an elective legislature, you get trouble in the end, as this country did in the Philippines.

"This issuance of power moneys during war times is also likely to create trouble, as history has shown many times. History teaches valuable lessons.

"I feel that some day history will be one of the greatest sources of human culture—to brighten understanding, increase imaginative powers and work for the general cultivation of mankind."

At a forenoon session at the Copley Plaza hotel, Prof. Bertha H. Putnam of Mt. Holyoke College urged that well equipped colleges, not now having the right to issue a master's degrees, be allowed to do so. She remarked that some colleges ought not be permitted to give even a bachelor's degree, but should be designated junior colleges.

Auxiliary Meets

Bootlegger Humiliated by Arrest as Loafer

It was the humiliation of the thing that got Matteo Viola in municipal court today—unfairness of the charge that he was an idle person.

"Your Honor," he complained with injured tone, "I consider myself a very busy man."

"What is your business?" asked Judge Dowd.

"Bootlegging," said Matteo, drawing himself up proudly. "I have been in court three times. I've been one of the busiest fellows in Boston."

"Do you consider that a decent occupation?"

"I most certainly do, Your Honor. I am a very busy man."

TWO MEN HELD, COUNTERFEIT PLANT SEIZED

Secret Service Finds Moulds in Home of One Suspect in East Providence

Complaints of Massachusetts and Rhode Island merchants who took in many counterfeit quarters and half dollars during the holiday season, led to the arrest in Providence today of W. W. Bachelder, 27, and Stanley Shumway, 26, both of East Providence.

Federal officers say that Shumway [illegible] which turned [illegible] with Bachelder's help he flooded several cities and towns with the coins, including the Attleboro district in this State.

The counterfeiting was done at Shumway's home on [illegible] ave., East Providence, it is alleged. The arrests were made by U. S. Secret Service Agent James E. Fitzpatrick and Patrolman Charles O. A[illegible] of Providence, following receipt of a tip.

The arrests do not solve the widespread circulation of bogus $10 and $20 bills of which merchants in that section have complained, the federal authorities said.

Drop Her and She May Come to You Again

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BEATRICE FAIRFAX will gladly answer questions regarding heart and home problems. Address her in care of the Boston American. Write on one side of the paper only. If you wish a personal answer enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope. Otherwise, questions of interest will be answered through her daily columns.

Beatrice Fairfax

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX

I met a girl about a month ago and I have gone over to her house once. While I was there we played bridge. I have asked her to go out with me a few times since and she has refused, saying she had something else to do. Please advise me, shall I be persistent and try to get her to go out with me, or shall I drop her? I like her a great deal more than I do any other girl I have known. BILL.

Dear Bill—If she has turned you down three or four times I believe I shouldn't ask her again. There's a curious law that seems to govern such things—stop inviting a girl to go out with you and she'll begin to worry. You see, when you continue to ask her to go, she may be bored, when you stop, she may feel she's lost something—and you may hear from her.

A Morbid Stepmother

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX.

Can you tell me if it is wrong for me to meet my brother's daughter, sometimes after working hours and coming home with her or taking her to a show once in a while. There is nothing between us except the pleasant relations of uncle and niece, and I always tried to be more of a big brother to her than an uncle. I am 35 years old and she is going on 17 years. My niece's stepmother does not approve of it and says it's wrong. I couldn't see any harm in it as she is my blood relation. Do you think it is jealousy on her part? Thanking you for your advice. FRED S.

Dear Fred: I certainly can see no objection in a man showing a little kindly attention to his niece, and to raise the question of wrong seems to me morbid and evil minded.

Keeps Sending Her Cards

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 16 years old. Last summer when we were away I met a man of 25. After I came home he sent me some picture postals. I wrote a little card and thanked him for the first batch; after that I didn't do anything about it, as it makes my dad mad and he accused me of encouraging this man. Does etiquette require that I thank him for the cards? I have no interest in him and don't like to make dad angry. Please answer soon. ANNE F

Dear Anne. Etiquette does not require that you acknowledge postal cards sent under these conditions. You thanked the sender for the first batch, and if he continues to send them without any encouragement from you, that's his hard luck.

She's Still in Mourning

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My husband died last March and I'm still wearing mourning, though I have become engaged to an old schoolmate who claims to have always loved me. He says it's insincere to wear black for one man and be making preparations to marry another. We quarrel over this and nothing else. What do you think of it?

QUEENIE.

Dear Queenie. I'm inclined to agree with your fiance, that when a woman is busying herself over weding preparations for one man, it's not quite the thing to wear outward symbols of woe for another. Your second marriage will appear more dignified and you will observe better form if you "go into colors" some weeks before your second marriage.

Harmony Secret of Make-Up

Lip and Cheek Rouge Should Blend

By JOSEPHINE HUDDLESTON

I WANT to tell you about the newest method of blending, and, although it apparently is a contradiction of previous rules, the results justify the change.

All of you have read columns and columns of beauty suggestions, in which it was agreed that rouge should be matched to the skin to gain the most natural effect. That still is true, but, unfortunately, every woman isn't a good judge of skin coloring.

Scattered over the country we find some cosmeticians who really are expert in matching rouges and powders to the complexion. But they are few and far between, and in the meantime the average woman is doing the best she can with her limited experience. It is true, of course that today we don't see the blatant mistakes in make-up we did a few years ago. This is partly because of the more careful application of rouge, and partly because the shades themselves are more subtle than the harsher shades of the past.

Another thing which makes this new method of blending rouges possible is that the manufacturers are making lip-sticks to match with face rouge, and the color values of both cheek and lip rouge have been so carefully worked out that it is possible to match them perfectly, which is the secret of the new make-up.

Experimentation with the various shades of rouge on all types of women has proved that it is far more important to match the cheek and lip coloring perfectly than it is to consider the color of the skin, eyes and hair.

Disregarding the hair and eye coloring entirely that person may use a pale rose rouge on her cheeks instead of the pale orange, and if she uses a pale rose lip-stick, the effect will be far lovelier than a severe contrast between the color in the cheeks and that upon the lips.

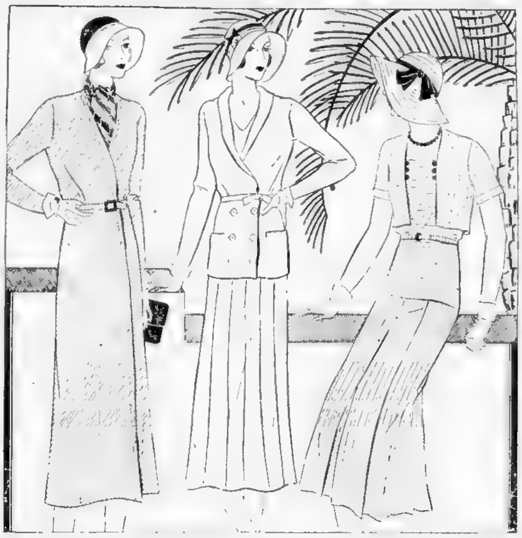
What's in Fashion?

Winter Sunshine Resort Clothes

Directed by AMOS PARRISH



NEW YORK, Dec. 30—Right now the folks in Southern California and Florida are lucky. Lucky because of the sunshine. Lucky because of the fashions this sun shines on.

Already Florida and California are wearing next Summer's fashions. The things that are favorites there will be favorites the country over within six months.

An outstanding favorite at winter sunshine resorts is the jacket costume. It means a dress daytime or evening with a matching jacket. It means a costume of skirt, blouse and jacket. It means a short jacket that isn't part of any particular costume, but is of a color to harmonize with various dresses and skirts and blouses.

The sports dress illustrated at the right shows one kind of jacket costume. Here the jacket is a sleeveless bolero. But it could have had sleeves and been longer. In the sketch, this dress is shown in silk shirting, one of the fashionable sports materials. But washable flat crepe or shantung or linen or cotton would be just as smart.

Jackets and Skirts

In this costume, jacket and skirt are plain color and the same material a light wool, such as wool crepe, jersey or a loose mesh tweed. But there are other fashionable combinations of striped jackets and plain skirts, or plain jackets and plaid skirts.

A clever idea of many women is to have one jacket—plain—and two skirts. This same sort of costume is also seen in silk. And an occasional variation is of plain jacket worn with a printed silk dress.

Tailored Coats

The coat shown at the left is a good example of the favorite silhouette—a slight flare, good wrap over, belted and collarless—with an Ascot cravat tied inside the neckline.

More two-piece dresses are being worn at the resorts than in several seasons. Lots of these are shirtwaist types as are [illegible] of the one piece dresses.

Sleeves are generally short. Many dresses are built on yokes. Many more have scarfs. And the [illegible] more apt to have a built-up back than a low one this year.

Favorite Colors

These same pastels are used for separate jackets, but bright shades of red and green are well liked, too. And navy is enjoying immense popularity.

As in coats, the white dress is the favorite. But usually it's a white dress combined with a bright accent color—like blue, red, green or brown. Pastel blues and pinks and yellows that are clear in tone look great on the beach. As they will all next summer!

Tea Before Wedding Is Proper

By MRS. BEECKMAN.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My aunt wishes to have a tea for me one week before my wedding (which is to be very quiet, with no reception). A friend tells me it is in poor taste to have a tea of that kind until after my marriage, unless it should be a formal or trousseau tea. Please give me your opinion. E. H.

It is quite correct, very delightful and most appropriate for your aunt to have this tea for you a week before your marriage. Especially since as it is apparent, there is no string tied to the invitation, no trousseau-appeal, no shower-idea!

Calling On the New Neighbor

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you be kind enough to help me? We had a new neighbor move next [illegible] ago and I have not been in [illegible] her. I have [illegible] [illegible] proper [illegible] after waiting so long? M. H.

Knife and Fork When Not in Use

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

2—[illegible] the knife and fork when [illegible]

I. A. M.

Good questions [illegible] [illegible] forks when they are not being used are most important [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of the most important things concerning them.

The handle should not touch on the table cloth. When we are not using the fork we place it on the right of the plate, the tines on the plate at the top and the handle on the [illegible].

2—When we are finished eating, we place the knife and fork together, parallel to each other, in the center of the plate, the handles a bit turned to the right, so that they will not easily be knocked off, when the plate is taken from the table.

Frolicsome Hints for New Year's Eve

tomorrow and then coming back here again?"

"Yes. In a week's time we return."

"You'll come to Cap d'Antibes? You'll allow an old friend to see a little of you and your daughter?"

"I expect we shall. The hotel you're going to stay at is in our program."

"That's just fine."

And at that, was it annoyance or the sun in her eyes that made Lorma Latour frown . . .?

Back in America she'd pondered over the expediency of just such measures. Did the operation really make one young? And wasn't it surely dangerous?

Also, wasn't there a chance of getting more than mere rejuvenation? With the transplanting of the glands mightn't one acquire monkey proclivities . . .?

Hadn't there been some discussion of it in the papers?

Said Wilda, unexpectedly: "I shouldn't be a bit surprised if that's what Miss Lorma Latour is here for."

"To be 'made over,' do you mean?"

"Who knows? To me she had a kind of hungry look as though she were terrified that now her youth was gone she would miss anything. Sort of avid for life, if you know what I mean."

"I don't. And I'm surprised at you talking that way. It's quite immodest of you, Wilda."

"Gracious, mother! I'm the old-fashioned member of the Gardner team. Weren't you always telling me so in Paris?"

* * *

But officials and "carabinieri" were quite kind to the two lone American ladies.

The car bounded on. The scenery grew wilder, more picturesque. They were really in Italy.

Up, up they went. Then violently down, down, down. The roads grew rougher as they climbed higher and higher.

"But he knows these roads so well, mother. He's lived in Monte Carlo [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

"The Italians are so much handsomer than the French. I noticed the difference in the men the moment we crossed the border! Isn't it extraordinary?" exclaimed the widow.

They passed through Genoa, and on to that lovely seaside town in Italy called Rapallo.

Rapallo looked like "a little bit of heaven" when they awoke next morning.

Cypress and olive trees and sandalwood clung to the mountainside. It had rained overnight, and there was the sweet, clean smell of pines and cedars.

If Logan were but here! Italy! How he would love it!

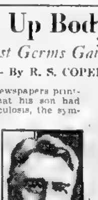
Keep Up Body Resistance

Lest Germs Gain a Foothold

By R. S. COPELAND, M. D.



Dr. Copeland

WHEN THE newspapers printed the report that his son had contracted tuberculosis, the sympathy of the whole nation went out to the President and to his family. Probably no disease is more universally feared. Practically every one of us has some personal reason for knowing its ravages — has had some relative or friend or acquaintance who has fallen a victim.

The germs of this disease are so widely scattered through the civilized world that it is impossible to avoid all contact with them. Indeed, it is said that nearly all adults carry them about in their bodies.

The most common form of the disease is tuberculosis of the lungs. But almost any part of the body may be affected.

Under ordinary circumstances, fortunately, the lines of defense of our bodies are sufficient to withstand the assaults of these and other germs. We are in danger only when the resistance of the body is lowered by disease, overwork, long-continued strain of some kind, failure to get fresh air and proper food. Then it is that the germs get a foothold and begin their work of destruction.

If care is not taken, the course of the disease may be very rapid. But, on the other hand, if it is recognized in the early stages and given prompt attention, there is every prospect of recovery.

The earlier symptoms are indefinite in character. But they should attract attention to the fact that something is wrong. There is general weakness, irritability, loss of weight and of appetite, sometimes pain in the chest or back.

Complete rest, plenty of fresh air and sunlight, nourishing food, freedom from worry are the chief factors in bringing about recovery. Some climates are especially recommended for one reason or another. But where it is impossible for the patient to be sent away a suitable environment can usually be arranged in the home, or near at hand.

"Your column on the Russian situated should be appreciated by every constructive individual and institution in the country. If the Bolshevists were allowed by the rest of the world to stew in their own juice, they would soon fail in their efforts and a stable government would follow and the whole world would be much better off. I cannot understand individuals or institutions trading with these people, especially giving them credit, after repudiating all the country's debts and confiscating the properties of individuals and institutions doing business in the country. It seems impossible that honorable individuals or institutions could do business with them on any terms."

"You don't seem to make much progress or get anywhere. I used to have hopes of your efforts bearing some real beneficial fruit but have almost lost all hope for you. Your writing seems to lack punch. You are not nearly so convincing as Mr. Brisbane and some others. You should assume a harsher mien. You are entirely too easy on the enemies of progress. The United States is full of men who could see the Russian leaders and go them one better. Give us short hours and high wages, together with lower cost of living and no profiteering. Then everything would be fine and dandy in every way."

Frank C. Hopkins, New Hampshire lumber manufacturer, writes, in part:

"I understand from persons recently returned from Russia that now there is piled at and near Archangel more lumber and pulpwood ready for shipment as soon as the ice breaks up in March than is produced in one year on the whole North American continent. This lumber and pulpwood, produced by convict and conscript labor, and shipped here contrary to our laws and customs, as I understand, can be delivered here at about two-thirds the cost in this country. This threatens to destroy our business in these materials in this country.

"I think some large companies are using these Russian materials and are exercising their influence to continue these shipments into this country.

"I think Congress should take very drastic action in this matter in time to prevent the shipment of these materials which are intended to be started in March or before if possible."

James [illegible] Martin writes:

"Your article about Russia is the first honest expression of the situation I have seen. These people going over to Russia and teaching them to build that country up with machinery, railroads, agricultural development, and also selling them machinery on time, is equivalent to a man having a revolver pressed to his head by a ruffian demanding that all his valuables be surrendered, and refusing, tells the ruffian to shoot; the ruffian presses the trigger, and, lo and behold, the gun fails to go off. Then the attacked gentleman goes down into his pocket, pulls out his own revolver and says 'Use this.'

"We are putting guns in the hands of these Russian ruffians so they can destroy us, and there should be legislation prohibiting the exportation of goods to Russia, and passports should be denied to those people who go over there to teach those ruffians how to destroy us."

[illegible] mortgage bonds at 102½. It will [illegible] requirements inasmuch as the bonds bear a 7½ per cent coupon, and a fair average rate for time deposits is around 2 per cent, it is good business for the company to use its surplus cash in reduction of bonded debt.

* * *

This American Agricultural bond issue put out in 1921 and $30,000,000 in amount, has been a hard operating burden in view of the 7½ per cent coupon and a $300,000 annual sinking fund. Extinction of the issue is a probability of the not distant future inasmuch as after the $2,000,000 redemption on Feb. 1 the issue will be down to about $5,500,000.

American Agricultural has the advantage of geographical diversification with only a third of its sales [illegible] the entire northern area.

The new requirement that all Massachusetts registered automobiles must be inspected meets with [illegible] in this column that the requirement be made and the suggestion was offered nearly a year before the requirement was adopted. Now we would make the further suggestion that, as such an important safety move has been definitely adopted, some recognition of the fact be forthcoming in the way of lower insurance rates for Massachusetts cars.

* * *

In the fire insurance field lower rates are granted to those who fulfil certain safety requirements, as is proper and just. The automobile driver undergoes a definite expense in complying with the requirement, and the insurance companies are direct beneficiaries if, as we believe, the plan is good. Then why should the benefit not be passed along to the ones who pay for it?

The recent one-man move to have Connecticut "secede" from the New England Council recalls that a well known Boston house publishing educational books a few years ago put out a geography which included New York in the New England States. This became an accepted text book in some of our public schools but was not copied elsewhere.

United Gas Adds 2 More Utilities

Properties were acquired from National Public Service Corp through exchange of Columbus Delaware & Marion Electric Co [illegible] of Commonwealth Utilities Corp [illegible] interurban railway service in Marion, Ohio, and vicinity and the Mt. Gilead Water, Light, Heat & Power Co. and the Morrow Public Service Co., small subsidiary companies of the Columbus & Marion Co.

More Preferred Is Retired by Maytag

Maytag Co. has retired an additional 3000 shares of its $6 first preferred stock, according to Pres E. H. Maytag.

Prices Are Higher in Curb Dealings

New York, Dec. 30—Curb prices stiffened substantially today in active trading. An early period of firmness was followed by a brisker upturn when the good news concerning the railroad agreement was received and there was a fair amount of short covering. Electric Bond and Share sold a couple of points higher and there were rallies of a point or more in United States "A" and St. Regis Paper.

Graham Paige Corp. Resumes Operations

Graham Paige Motors Corporation has resumed assembly line operations and is currently operating six days a week with 1300 men on the payroll, it was announced yesterday. This is an increase of 400 men over the number employed when the company closed for inventory in November.

Output of Crude Oil Is Reduced

Daily average production of crude oil in the United States in the week ended Dec. 27 totaled 2,114,074 barrels daily, a decrease of 38,687 barrels, according to Oil & Gas Journal. Light oil output decreased 51,816 barrels daily.

Pacific Light Is Calling Its Bonds

The entire issue of Pacific Light & Power Corporation first and refunding mortgage Series A 5 per cent bonds, due in 1951, has been called for redemption on March 1, 1931.

NEW HAVEN BIG FEATURE IN BOSTON

New Haven Railroad, up more than $7 a share, was the feature of today's trading on the Boston Stock Exchange. The rise was a part of the local market's response to official announcement of railroad consolidation plans.

Gains of 2 to 3 more points were registered by American Woolen pfd., Hygrade Lamp, and Edison.

The local quick call rate has been advanced to 4 percent from 3 percent.

"My opinion is that we are going to have an improvement next year. While the early part of the year will probably continue at low levels, we expect a definite upward turn sometime during the year, with gradual and progressive recovery from then on."

QUICK FROZEN MEATS SOLD

The introductory sales campaign for quick frozen foods at Springfield has proven that quick frozen meat products can be delivered to the consumer at the same prices charged for fresh meats of corresponding grades, according to a review of the first year's operations just made public by General Foods Corporation.

The statement also reveals that General Seafoods Corporation, a subsidiary of Frosted Foods Co., Inc., has extended its distribution of quick frozen sea foods to 20 states, and that sales this fall have shown a gain of about 30 per cent over the fall of 1929.

Negotiations are pending with organizations in foreign countries to use the process there on a royalty basis, according to the statement by the company, and similar arrangements may be made in this country to enable the process to be extended nationally.

Good Business for Shoe Trade Is Seen

President Ward Melville of Melville Shoe Corporation says:

"Looking backward over the past three months, during which time we have sold 300,000 more pairs of shoes than in any similar period in our history, we have every reason to expect good business in 1931. We shall continue to open new stores during the next year pursuant to our customary expansion program—probably 20 or 25 stores within the first half of the year."

Trading in Bond Market Is Larger

New York, Dec. 30. Volume of trading in the bond market continued to expand as prices followed divergent trends under influence of investment buying and tax selling.

Turnover took a sharp jump at the start of the session largely because of tax selling of issues in which the recent decline in bond prices to the lowest level since 1925 has made liquidation of this nature abnormal.

Chicago, Rock Island Leases Right of Way

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad has leased its right of way between Rock Island and Chicago, a distance of approximately 180 miles, to Continental Construction Company for laying of two 24-inch lines to be used for piping gas to Chicago.

The road will receive an annual rental of $25 a mile for each line laid, it was announced.

Associated Gas Dividends Named

Associated Gas & Electric Co. declared regular quarterly dividends of 1-40 of a share of class A or 1-140 of a share of $5 dividend series preferred stock on the $4 cumulative preference stock, payable Feb. 2.

MERGER PLANS SHOOT RAILS UPWARD

New York, Dec. 30—Announcement that heads of Eastern railway trunk lines had agreed to a four-system unification plan after more than a decade of futil negotiations sent carrier shares sharply upward on the New York Stock Exchange today.

Extreme gains of 2 to 8 points in railway shares attracted some profit taking which caused reductions of 1 to 3, but utilities strengthened at the close and bolstered the entire list.

LEADERS ARE ADVANCED

The rail shares reflected hasty short covering, for, although a consolidation agreement had been widely rumored for a fortnight, bears had grown skeptical.

Baltimore & Ohio closed up more than 5 points, close to the day's highest. New Haven shot up 8 and closed up 6⅛. New York Central lost 2 of a 6-point gain, and Pennsylvania finished 2 higher, after selling up 3.

North American, American Power & Light and Consolidated Gas gained about 3 points. American Telephone closed up 2½, the day's best. Corn Products was a firm feature, gaining 6 points. Air Reduction and American Can were up 3 points. U. S. Steel and Standard of N. J. closed up about a point. Allied Chemical closed up 4, after selling up 5½.

It was notable that the rail shares as a group moved forward, the consolidation plan providing the necessary impetus for a general upturn, including stocks of carriers not directly affected. Wall Street has felt however, that solution of this Eastern trunkline problem would lead to realignments throughout the country.

TO HELP RECOVERY

The prospect of accomplishment of a unification plan which will increase operating efficiency, at a time when the road's physical equipment is in the best shape in its history, is expected in financial circles to enhance the prospect of recovery, despite increasing competition from other means of transportation.

While ingot output is still around 30 per cent of capacity, the reviews indicate an early return to about 50 per cent, and less drastic shutdowns over the coming week-end than occurred over the Christmas week-end. It appears, however, that much of the contracting has been on the basis of prices before the recent increases.

In the non-ferrous metals, copper remained firm, Copper Exporters, Inc., making effective yesterday's quarter-cent increase in the domestic price. The price, c. i. f. European base ports, was jacked up from 10.55 cents to 10.80 a pound.

Silver, however, continued to decline, recording a new historical low at 30⅛ cents an ounce. Since the drop in silver is due primarily to the shifting of India to a gold monetary basis, rather than overproduction, producers see little prospect of stability, save through an international agreement, or possibly a silver loan to China.

After shooting up to 4 per cent yesterday, call money renewed at 3½ per cent, and was steady to firm at that level.

NEW DIVIDENDS ARE DECLARED

Prudential Investors, Inc. declared initial quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the $6 perferred stock, payable Jan. 15.

Grains Are Higher in Chicago Market

Chicago, Dec. 30—Corn displayed pronounced strength during trading on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Other cereals moved up in sympathy. Closing prices for corn were 1⅛ to 1⅞c. higher, wheat unchanged to ⅜c. up and oats 1 to 1⅜c. higher. Rye closed ⅛ to ⅜c. better.

Cotton Steady in New York Market

New York, Dec. 30—Cotton futures closed steady today, 3 lower to 3 higher. Jan. 9.88. New contracts: Jan. 9.77; March 9.99-10.00; May 10.26-10.28; July 10.49; Oct. 10.65; spot steady; middling 10.00.

PORT OF BOSTON IN REVIEW

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Boston managed lines operating United States Shipping Board steamers in regular service to foreign countries have made the best record of the 15 companies working these lines, a report shows.

The Yankee Line is operated in Boston by Rogers & Webb, steamship agents and brokers in State st. This line is in the regular service between Hamburg and Bremen.

The American Republics Line is operated in Boston by C. H. Sprague & Sons, steamship agents and brokers in Broad st.

SURPRISE HOLIDAY

FRIENDS IN NEED

Great Britain's consular officials here in Boston may have to pay out of their own pockets for their charity in caring for a man they believed to be a shipwrecked seaman from the Maritime Provinces. Several months ago a man was brought into Provincetown on the Mary P. Goulart, a fishing schooner after being picked up in a drifting dory. He said his name was Joseph Sampson and he was anxious to get home to two children. He told a gripping tale of suffering from hunger and thirst, fighting the seas in his small boat. He related that he was a member of the crew of the Whiteaway, a fishing schooner out of Halifax. He stated that while fishing off the Western Bank a storm opened the vessel up forward and she sank. He stated he did not know the fate of other members of the crew. The British consulate took him in charge and sent him home to Canada. A bill from the British Board of Trade has just been received by the captain of the three-masted schooner Whiteaway. He repudiates the claim and said that Sampson is unknown to him and never served under him.

LAST RITES

With members of United States Customs Guard acting as pallbearers, Thomas Paxley, member of the United States Customs Guard for eight years at this port, was buried yesterday at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Lynn. Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's Church. Paxley had been in poor health for two years following an automobile accident.

COMPLETES CARGO

With 1000 tons of merchandise to be put in her holds at the Hoosac docks, the S. S. West Harcuvar, Yankee Line, which is carrying cargo from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk, leaves here tomorrow for Hamburg and Bremen. Local cargo includes apples, provisions, machinery, cotton waste and miscellaneous items. She carries a consignment of automobile parts loaded at Chester, Pa., for the Ford factory at Hamburg.

Rum Fortune Found in Hunt for Banker

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 30 (AP)—Liquor and alcohol valued at $55,000, was seized by Binghamton police last night in a search for Andrew J. Horvatt, missing president of the looted State bank of Binghamton. Police said the seizure was made beneath a large garage in the rear of the bank. Horvatt is charged with forgery in connection with the alleged looting of the bank.

Purnell Expects Gain for Business

Youngstown, O., Dec. 30—A gradual upturn in business conditions probably will develop by the middle or latter part of February, Frank Purnell, president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., states. While the recovery may be slow, it should gather headway as the year goes on and the last half of the year should be equal to or better than the first half of 1930, he said.

Social Organizations

THROUGH the generosity of the public we are able day by day to relieve want and distress, and help the needy to self-dependence.

In 1930, with larger resources entrusted to us, we were able to reach more people. We take this means of thanking those friends, old and new, who made this possible. We also extend, both to those who have helped us carry on our work and to those who as yet have not experienced the joy of giving,

Many Problems for Us

People Must Watch Legislative Action

If the people of Massachusetts were ever required to think in terms of political economics that time is now.

Governor-elect Ely will propose a large bond issue, scrapping for the time the pay-as-you-go policy, in order that business may be stimulated, employment provided for the idle and a program of permanent construction devised without assessing the entire cost upon the people at this time and thus destroying the very benefits his program is purposed to acquire.

A contest over the indefensible automobile liability insurance system, which levies $20,000,000 in fees annually upon the autoists and has failed to produce safety and eliminate reckless, dangerous driving, is already forecasted.

There will be the usual scramble among the selfish for revision of the antiquated taxation laws, with the result that the earners of small incomes, who need relief most, will be left in the cold as usual unless they organize and concentrate now to secure long-delayed justice for themselves.

Now the plenitude of economic legislation is supplemented by the proposal of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor that public-control of the Boston Elevated shall last for forty-two years, during which the State or the Metropolitan area shall attempt to acquire the railway by complete public ownership.

Every one of these massive items of proposed legislation is of singular interest to all the people of this State at this time because they go to the pocketbook at a time when judicious spending is necessary and because they all contain the possibility of discriminating against the mass of people who do not retain lobbyists and legislative fixits to represent their interest.

And there is an important appropriate warning that is served upon the Legislature now through these columns in the interest of these people whose rights are so frequently neglected or despised.

The existing law provides that the Boston Elevated, into which many millions of dollars have been poured by the car-riders, shall not be turned back to its private owners and its old, repudiated managers unless the State itself originates that action.

This decision was purposely left to the public, through their elected representatives, in order that the public and not the private owners would derive the advantages resulting from the costly rehabilitation of a railway system that was approaching bankruptcy and imposing upon the public all the handicaps of disordered service.

The public must have its eyes open in order to detect and prevent any scheme which will deprive them of this right, for which they have paid heavily.

Miss or Mrs.

The Modern Riddle

The title "Mrs." will be discarded altogether in a few years, says a modern business woman, presumably a member of the Lucy Stone League. Actresses, of course, first set the custom —perhaps because they could not always remember the names of their current husbands. Artists and writers have followed suit, and an increasing number of women office-workers are adopting the idea. There is some logic in it, since it is easier to get a job that way.

"Mrs.," however, is a prefix that many married women will cling to. When woman's only vocation was matrimony it was a notice to the public that she had succeeded. And even today it has such obvious conveniences that you may expect it to be used for several decades yet.

Those who would do away with it argue that it is unfair to label a woman as married or single when there is no corresponding title to define a man's marital status. But this is shallow reasoning. Plain "Mr." suffices. Any woman (and any man for that matter) can spot a husband at a glance. He has that married look—it's unmistakable.

Too Busy to Work

So Sem Went Home

Sem, Paris artist, who recently returned to his native city after a prolonged visit in New York, had many pleasant things to say about his stay there. Everybody was very kind to him, and made him feel at home although he spoke no English.

But Sem had one complaint to make. He found that there were too many speakeasies in New York. Whenever he called on friends in Greenwich Village or ventured into a shop on the side streets of Broadway, he was always blundering into a place where liquors were dispensed. And the hotels were no better. If there was no party in the room next to him, there was sure to be an orgy in progress two doors up. It was all very puzzling to Sem.

So he finally gave up the hopeless attempt to see New York and stay sober at the same time, jumped on a liner and went back to France. Only when he reached Puritanical Paris was he able to work again. Prohibition is all right if you have leisure, he says, but it is too big a handicap for a busy man.

THAT "MENTAL HAZARD" -:-

By NELSON HARDING

And above, the mental picture
Formed by fear and pessimism
Into an exaggeration.

Confidence is sorely needed,
Plus a little bit of courage.
Just forget that mental hazard,
And the flag is not so distant.

Listen, World! -:- Hoping

By ELSIE ROBINSON

You Can Have Success in 1931

SOON YOU'LL be given a New Year. Here's hoping! For what? That depends on you.

You can make a success of this year—or a ghastly failure. And the thing that will determine that success or failure won't be "luck" or business conditions, nor even your own talent or hard work. It will be something to which you give little thought, yet which is the most powerful force in life. The success or failure of your new year will depend on your faith.

Elsie Robinson

"Pooh!" you say. "What good is faith to me? Faith's just for religious people. Now I want something practical——"

You're wrong, partner. Faith isn't religious, and it is practical. Faith is that force which lies behind all achievement—bad achievement as well as good. Without it, we can do nothing. With it, we can do anything within reason—and a good many things that we dare not call reasonable!

What does that mean? Something very simple and yet miraculous—something you'll see demonstrated everywhere.

Look at that rug at your feet. Before that rug lay at your feet, it lay in its maker's mind. He saw, within his mind, the pattern of that rug. He wanted to make it—he believed he could make it. It wasn't a negative ga-ga sort of belief. It wasn't a mere wish to make a rug.

It was a strong, confident, unquestioning belief—so strong and confident that it swept aside all obstacles. It swept aside, first, the greatest obstacle of all—the fear and sluggishness of the man's own mind. After that, all other handicaps were easy. That fighting confidence was faith.

It created the rug in the man's mind before he copied it with his fingers. It was the "substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Before anything is made by man's fingers, it is made in his mind by faith. Faith comes before all achievement. By faith, men made houses and weapons and garments and traps and pictures and books and aeroplanes and radios.

You want to make a success of this New Year, don't you? That's the way to do it. If you can think about your life in that way—if you have faith in health and happiness —if you can believe that you've a right to them—if you can build their pattern in your mind, so strongly, so confidently, that they override your own fear and sluggishness—then you'll have your success. For good fortune is all a matter of faith.

And, by the same token, so is bad fortune. Just as good times will come if a man believes in them strongly enough, so will bad times come if a man believes in them strongly enough. If you're all set for misery this New Year, partner, you'll get it—never fear! For faith is a two-way force. It will clear your way to heaven or it will dig your pit to hell.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

That Picturesque Area, "Hell's Kitchen"

NEW YORK, Dec. 30—That glowering and rowdy section picturesquely namd "Hell's Kitchen" continues to turn out gang fodder —undernourished youths who live by stealth. "Legs" Diamond, Philadelphia born, spent formative years there, as did a dozen other racketeer chiefs.

Diamond was one of many whose playground is the gutter. They graduate from petty sidewalk pilfering to "wagon bouncing" — stealing from delivery wagons—and on to "ganging a cop." Potential "Legs" Diamonds are on every street corner at dusk, waiting for something to turn up.

They sleep mornings, and afternoons are spent in pool halls. They thrill to being pointed out as "tough mugs" and called such nick-names as Spider, Lefty, Dusty and such. All acquire a lip curl and the custom of talking out the side of the mouth, prison fashion.

Their talk is the monosyllabic argot of the section—the staccato brand epitomized in "O, yeah?" and "K. O." No flights of ambition soar higher than leadership of a neighborhood gang making forays on defenseless wayfarers and unprotected shopkeepers by sheer force of numbers.

It is not part of their code to fight fairly, but always from ambush. Much has been made of their bravado, but invariably the gangsters dodge danger. Instead, they hire plug-uglies, pump them full of dope, place pistols in their hands, and send them out to kill.

* * *

They have learned that in New York, at least, if caught, they may buy immunity from a shamefully corrupt judicial system. The gangster has proved that he has little to fear. So he swaggers, poses for tabloids and accepts money from women. Honest policemen know they are yellow and refer to them deservedly as "rats."

Gangsters do not squeal because they know they will be outnumbered and slain. Thus tight-lipped silence is often hailed as heroism. Yet police say not one, if certain of immunity, would hesitate to betray his own mother. And I'll not be going out after dark for a while.

* * *

Few New York gangsters are rugged physical specimens. Nearly all suffer from malnutrition of early years. Experts say heredity has little to do with their outlawry. They blame it all on environment.

* * *

Sharp proof of environment's part in gangster making is illustrated in a "Hell's Kitchen" case on record. Four tenement born sons were about a year apart. When a widowed mother could no longer support them, she permitted the eldest to be adopted by a cultured family in Oregon. The other three grew up in the turbulent streets and each served a prison term before 25. The eldest today is a successful physician in a California city, honored and respected.

"Hell's Kitchen" girls are the perky, gum-chewing and slangy types often attractive in a jovially brusque way. They go in for $1 hats, $10 suits, romantic movies, and, despite temptations, more often than not remain "good girls."

It seems they do everything but lay car tracks in my work-shop. Today a man has been installing a wall light, another planes away at desk drawers, a whistling Armenian rug weaver is under the edge of the carpet repairing a dog-chewed hole, and a window washer creeps around on the sill back of my chair. Another hour of it and I'm going to hunt up my Indian clubs and join them with a bit of juggling.

"Dear Fancy Pants," writes someone from down in Texas—"We caught a cow-hand using perfume here the other day. He spent ten days in New York with a rodeo show and got that way. What kind of a man, if any, do you call him, and what do you suggest?"

Run the sissie down and white spat him!

* * *

The whistling Armenian rug weaver is out again. He has run out of thread and has to go back for more. In the meantime the typewriter has gone suddenly hay-wire. To make it a perfect day something should explode under my chair.

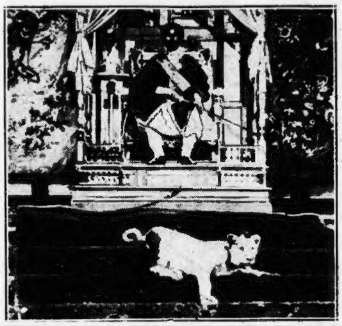
Here's an Emperor

Old Style Ruler, Out of Date Now



EMPEROR HAILE SELLASSIE AND HIS LION CUB

You see before you, holding his sword, sitting on an improvised throne in the courtyard of his royal palace, his Imperial Majesty Haile Sellassie I, Emperor of Abyssinia, who calls himself "King of Kings." He also calls himself "The Child of Judah," whose tribe was blessed by Moses.

Also he claims direct descent from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba. His remotest ancestor is supposed to have been born after the Queen of Sheba returned from that visit to King Solomon.

As she and the king were never married, you would think that the least said about that the better the emperor would like it. But you can't tell.

For playthings the emperor keeps the cubs of lions, and you see one of them with a baby stare, which will soon change into a baleful glare, looking out from the carpeted steps of the throne.

Emperors of the old style were always fond of curious pets. Ivan the Terrible, of Russia, was fond of bears—passionately fond of hunting and killing them. He kept hundreds of them, the most gigantic that could be obtained, and occasionally, to gratify his imperial whim, he would turn a few of the bears loose among his subjects, and scream with laughter as the bears struck down the people.

Once in a while a modern prize fighter, just to show how brave he is, will have a lion cub for a pet. But that isn't the real thing.

This lion cub sitting on the steps near the throne, feeling in himself a power that is growing, believes that he is the real ruler of the universe.

But the dark man behind him could end his career with a thrust of that sword. And that dark man, the Emperor of Abyssinia, calls himself "King of Kings," when in reality he is a mere puppet in the hands of the British Government.

It protects him in his power and would put him out any minute if it suited British policy.

For when he speaks to the princes of India, the Lords and Commons of England, his speech is written by MacDonald, a Labor Prime Minister who was once a worker in a coal mine.

Think It Over

GET RID OF THIS BURDEN AND EVERY DAY WILL BE CHRISTMAS SELFISHNESS OF MANKIND
Hal Coffman

Mr. Coffman, who wishes every day were Christmas, suggests here a way to make it so.

It is simple, as you see. All that is necessary is to get rid of human selfishness. Shake it off, says Mr. Coffman, and you will notice the improvement at once.

Excellent advice, if a little difficult to follow. Selfishness sticks tight to most of us.

Many have, and they report that it works.
